POWs Reach Vientiane On First Leg to the U.S.

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Three American prisoners of war released Monday by North Vietnam arrived today in Vientiane aboard a plane of the International Control Commission (ICC). They were accompanied by a group of American pacifists who went to Hanoi after them.

The three men were one Air Force and one Navy pilot and an apprentice seaman who fell overboard from the guided missile cruiser USS Canberra in the Gulf of Tonkin and was captured. Their release brought to nine the total of U.S. prisoners released by Hanoi since January, 1968. Of the nine, eight were pilots.

The three men released were man, 28, a pilot of Santee, Calif.; Air Force pilot Capt. Wesley L. Rumble, 26, of Oroville, Calif., and Navy Seaman Douglass Brent Hegdahl, 22, of Clark, S.D. All three appeared in good health.

The men had been given blue trousers and white shirts by the North Vietnamese to replace their prison uniforms. They were greeted at the Vientiane airport by U.S. officials who conferred with them and the pacifists led by Rennard C. Davis, 28, of Chicago, a representative of the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, on how to return to America.

The men were expected to remain in Vientiane overnight and return to the United States by commercial plane via Bangkok late Wednesday afternoon. U.S. officials in Bangkok had booked reservations for them.

However, the Americans also had a U.S. Air Force C47 standing by to take them to a U.S. air base at Udorn, Thailand, should they prefer military transportation.

The reason for this was that Hanoi authorities expressed displeasure after former U.S. Ambassador William Sullivan ordered the first three men released to use military transportation when they arrived in Vientiane in January 1968.

The Pentagon lists 978 American servicemen missing and 346 captured in North or South Vietnam. Most are fliers while in captivity.

North Vietnam said the men were freed in the presence of a large number of North Vietnamese and foreign newsmen, cameramen and television reporters. VNA said the Americans expressed their gratitude to the Vietnamese people, the North Vietnamese government and the Vietnamese Peoples Army for their humanitarian act and humane treatment they received throughout the period of their detention.

Reports from Hanoi said the men were in good health. Frishman was injured in the crash of his plane but he recovered and returned to the United States.

Nixon on Pullout— Eyes 100,000 More

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon is expected to announce a pullout of 50,000 more American troops from Vietnam in late August and may schedule another withdrawal of 50,000 fighting men in October, it was learned today.

This means Nixon will try to withdraw 125,000 troops by the end of the year and fulfill his expressed hope of beating former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford's timetable of 100,000.

An administration source said Nixon and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, have agreed the withdrawal of 50,000 more GIs is feasible now. Nixon will announce it later this month.

On the basis of Wheeler's on-the-spot survey of the Vietnam militia and Nixon's own talks and observations during his round-the-world trip, they reportedly have set another target in the fall of 50,000 troops in the phased withdrawal.

Announces Troop Cut

Nixon announced an initial troop cut of 25,000 during the June 8 Midway summit meeting with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

The reductions already under way will bring the total troop commitment in South Vietnam to 515,000 by the end of August. The peak troop commitment, more than 540,000, was reached earlier this year, after the Nixon administration took office.

Nixon was considering a broadcast to the nation from

Los Angeles in late August on the next pullout of fighting men in his campaign to "Vietnamize" the war.

Wheeler presented his evaluation of the war picture and continuing military lull to Nixon on July 22, a short time before the President embarked on his world tour.

Under Intensive Study

Nixon said in Guam he was reviewing the possibility of further troop withdrawals and would make his position clear in late August. The de-escalation of enemy activity—an evaluation of whether it is deliberate or not—is under intensive study in the White House and the Pentagon.

White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said Nixon told the Democratic and Republican leaders Monday there "had been substantial improvement" in the military situation in South Vietnam. Ziegler also said no decision had been made on a further troop cutback.

Nixon, in talks with Asian leaders, apparently paved the way for his policy of Asians taking over their own defense against internal and external insurgency except in case of a threat by a nuclear power.

He won surprising support for his position from leaders after reassuring them the United States plans to continue other assistance and will remain a power in the Pacific.

Meanwhile, President Nixon also focused on domestic issues.

The President's important message on welfare reform Friday is expected to propose a federal floor of $50 a month payments to all adult welfare clients—the aged, blind and disabled.

Most states could cut their welfare costs for these categories under this plan, although it would cost the federal government more to support the categories. States could choose to pay more than the federal minimum.

The White House proposal, UPI learned, also may include a new and controversial category of recipients—the low-income employed. And it would put an emphasis on work training programs to ease clients off welfare rolls.

To Reduce Inequities

The administration's proposals are not expected to be passed by Congress and in operation until at least 1972.

The package will be designed to reduce inequities in the welfare system, which now differ widely from state to state.

Among the inequities are wide variations of states' payment levels to clients and lack of incentives for some low-income families to stay off welfare.

Kingston UR to Vietnam Fielded by Goodell

By HUGH REYNOLDS

POUGHKEEPSIE

Sen. Charles E. Goodell (R-N.Y.) held a press conference here Monday afternoon, fielding a broad range of questions from Kingston Urban Renewal to the war in Vietnam.

Responding to a Freeman question on urban renewal, the senator said that he was aware of the problems and was willing to help in any way possible. "I know that there was some difficulty with the program in 1967," he told a Freeman reporter. "We discussed it briefly at a party meeting this morning at the Gov. Clinton Hotel in Kingston."

Goodell was referring to a meeting between himself and political leaders from the 28th District Monday evening in Kingston. "It (urban renewal) appears to be a local problem, but I'm willing to help in any way that I can."

The Senator was more specific on other questions of major interest to the state and nation.

Federal sharing of funds with states: "Taxpayers and local governments have reached the point of no return. New funds must come from the federal level. It is critically important to restore the vigor of the federal system. I would recommend the funneling back of $3 billion the first year to local governments with no strings attached."

Offtrack betting: "I look at that with considerable skepticism. Any offtrack betting proposals should come from the state. It is not a federal matter."

John Lindsay in New York City: "I think Mayor Lindsay's chances for reelection are excellent. He is an honest, capable man. I don't want to see New York City return to the era of machine politics."

Goodell was also questioned on his refusal to support Republican nominee for mayor of New York, State Sen. John Marchi. "Sen. Marchi made it quite clear before the primary that the only Republican nominee he could support would be Sen. Marchi. He doesn't even

Those Heavy Rains-- We're Still Lucky

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON—Ulster County continued its lucky streak today in the wake of another 24 hours of heavy rains.

While others areas of the Mid-Hudson Valley were slipping under mud slides and rising flood waters, no serious damage was reported locally.

Newburgh and Poughkeepsie areas were hardest hit by rain and resultant high water. Close to three feet of water covered Route 55 near Poughkeepsie and police closed the highway to traffic at midnight. Mud slides nearly a foot deep closed Route 143 near Millbrook and rain-loosened boulders blocked Route 218 at Cornwall during the night.

A dam break in the Town of LaGrange, Dutchess County, flooded five homes. Another five residences in the Sprout Creek section were endangered by rising waters.

Numerous roads in Orange and Dutchess Counties were inundated as the prolonged rainfall neared the four-inch mark. Streams were reported overflowing or nearing flood stage with more heavy rain in the forecast for the area.

1.55 in Kingston

During the same 24-hour period, 1.55 inches of rain were recorded in Kingston and 1.24 inches fell in the Cooper Lake Reservoir area. Southern Ulster County, still under flood alert experienced slightly heavier drenching from more than two inches of rainfall since late Sunday night.

Some local flooding was experienced yesterday in Kingston when clogged catch basins overflowed. There was high water along the Strand and other riverfront areas as tides crested early this morning. Charles Cole, superintendent of the Board of Public Works said there was a sewer problem this morning on O'Neil Street but otherwise the city had borne up well under the deluge.

Rosendale Job Works

In Rosendale, the scene of flooding on many past occasions, the partially completed flood control project again controlled raging waters of the Rondout Creek. With 65 per cent of the $3 million project completed, the Rondout Creek held to its new course. Thomas McDonnell, resident engineer, commented this morning that flood control had proved its feasibility and necessity.

According to McDonnell, priority was given to the major excavation, removal of the bottleneck created by LeFevre Falls, widening and deepening the channel and filling in of the old creek bed. Current work centers on riprap, drainage structures and pumping stations. One of the bad features of the prolonged rain has been the delay in paving operations for almost four weeks. McDonnell said his workmen were "all set to go" Monday with surfaceing equipment but once again had to defer to the weather.

Farmers Hampered

Harvesting, too, has been called off on account of rain for the past several weeks. Ulster County farmers have been hampered in crop collection by the heavy rains which have soaked fields and orchards.

William H. Palmer, Ulster County Agriculture Extension agent said this morning that no serious damage had resulted from the continuing rainy season. Grain and hay crops said his workmen were "all have been difficult to cut and cure. Fruit growers have had to increase protection against fungus damage. In the early sweet corn fields around Hurley, farmers have found it difficult to harvest with heavy equipment in the sodden ground.

Once again Ulster County can consider itself lucky. In the black-dirt produce area of Orange County fields of onions, celery and lettuce have been inundated by overflowing creeks. This is one time farmers would welcome a continued overcast at least until the fields have dried somewhat.

They fear a hot sun before the waters recede would result in pre-cooked vegetables which would never make it on the market.

And More on Way

Although it would seem southeastern New York State including hard hit Sullivan and Orange Counties had reached a saturation point, more rain is on the way. Continued drenching is the result of two stalled fronts which are keeping the area in a steamy embrace. Forecasters can only say cautiously there is some hope of improvement by Thursday.

RV Students Go to Bat for Budget

By SHANE CROSBY

KYSERIKE

Rondout Valley Central High School Students are planning to make themselves heard for the next nine days, in an effort to bring out "yes" voters for the Aug. 13 re-vote on the RVC 1969-70 budget.

A Chain Call

Concerned over "the ill effects an austerity budget will have," it continued for a second year, the students met Monday night to plan a "chain call" with 10 students calling 10 persons each and asking them to telephone 10 more persons each, and so on.

"If we go on austerity, now, they cut out everything," said one senior from High Falls. "A lot of people just don't care," said Christine Burr, a senior who worked on the last vote of the district as a registration recorder. "A lot of people just don't go and register."

The school district, meanwhile, announced that Robert A. Robertaccio, an official of the district since 1962, was named Monday to replace Dr. Ted T. Grenda as superintendent of the RVC system. Dr. Grenda announced on July 22 that he would resign his post of three years on Sept. 12.

The school's board of education named Robertaccio, presently assistant superintendent, to the vacancy in a special meeting. Dr. Grenda, the board said, will remain to assist the new superintendent until Sept. 12.

Ask 'Outside Help'
The students who met Monday to discuss how to keep the school district from remaining on austerity are also asking for "outside help" from concerned parents and taxpayers. A second meeting of the young people is scheduled for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the American Legion Hall in Stone Ridge.

Should the school's second attempt at passage of a 1969-70 budget fail on Aug. 13, the district faces the likelihood of continuation of a contingency or austerity program that needs no voter approval.

The austerity budget, under state law, eliminates programs that are considered to be expendable, such as extracurricular activities, transportation of students who live close to the school, depending on grade; books for some grades and libraries.

Last year, voters approved special arrangements for transportation. Others voiced concern over the elimination of sports activities with other schools and its effect on students seeking sports scholarships to colleges. Both items were added as the students were about to begin fall classes.

Miss Burr, who served as secretary to the Future Teachers of America organization at RVC this past school term, said more would be left out of the school program than under last year's when sports and transportation were "beefed up" by voters' demand.

Elimination List
The senior said she had been told the school would eliminate sports, clubs and other extracurricular activities under the austerity program if the $4.1-million budget is defeated for a second time.

"We'll just go to school and come home," she said. Her Future Teachers club would be eliminated, she said, but said "other kids" would feel the cuts harder.

Council Will Hear Request For New Apartment Complex

KINGSTON — Plans are now entering the legal stage to create "a city within a city" in Lawton Park — an apartment complex of 396 units with parking for 594 cars. The property is owned by Dr. William E. Lawton of Somerville, N. J. Plans for the 18.64-acre site are being developed by the real estate firm of Halpern and Davidson, also of Somerville.

The Common Council will meet tonight at 7:30 p. m. at city hall and hear a request for a zoning change on two adjoining parcels from the present "triple residential" to "R-6" to permit the building of the apartments. The request will be referred to the Laws and Rules Committee which will refer it to the city planning board.

The planning board already has a request under study from Dr. Lawton for the rezoning of Lawton Park itself.

Marvin Davidson, a partner in the firm of Halpern and Davidson, told The Freeman that Lawton Park would be an "ideal site" for the new apartment complex.

He said that plans now call for six 11-story buildings for "upper-middle income" housing. It is envisioned that there will be 60 efficiency apartments, 276 one-bedroom apartments and 60 two-bedroom apartments. Parking will be provided for 594 cars, a portion of which will be under the buildings.

Recreational facilities are also planned including a golf putting green, swimming pool and tennis courts. A restaurant for the tenants and a half a dozen professional suites are also on the drawing board.

The plans might be subject to change, depending on the eventual developer's wishes, according to Davidson. "What we're working with now is a concept," he told The Freeman. "A developer might see it somewhat differently. However we think the topographical features of the land would favor our concept."

The rest of the Council's agenda is expected to be of routine nature including a number of mayoral appointments.

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan has appointed Herbert Shultz of 63 Lounsberry Place and Howard Fox of 33 Grandview Avenue to replace the Rev. John Gilmore and Harold O'Connor on the Human Relations Commission, respectively. The Rev. Mr. Gilmore resigned his position with the commission after being named its part-time executive director. O'Connor has moved to Florida.

There is an invitation from Kingston Fire Fighters Local 461 for the Council to participate in its third annual Loyalty Day Parade on Sept. 27. The group also asks for the use of Dietz Stadium on that day.

It is also expected that the Council will approve a dog warden for the city at tonight's meeting.

Wilson for Goodell: A Possibility Looms

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — High ranking figures in the New York Republican party have begun to talk seriously about substituting Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson for U.S. Sen. Charles E. Goodell in next year's Senate election.

Well-posted sources report that the talk has reached the conference-table stage but that it still is being treated as a possibility, rather than a probability.

There are several major contingencies yet to be resolved. Among them:

—Whether Goodell's efforts to build himself up for next year's election effort have been so unsatisfactory that he should be dissuaded from running.

—Whether Wilson, who has never run in a statewide contest strictly on his own merits, would prove a stronger candidate.

—Whether Wilson would be willing to unhitch himself from the line of direct succession to the governorship, his most cherished objective, in order to establish his own credentials as a winner.

—Whether the rearrangement would enhance Gov. Rockefeller's prospects for reelection next year.

Persons close to the situation maintain the last factor is the overriding one, since Rockefeller presumably will have the final say on the makeup of the GOP's 1970 state ticket.

Decisions may await the outcome of the New York City mayoral election, in which all of the principals are indirectly involved.

Marchi Supporter

Wilson is strong in supporting the Republican nominee, State Sen. John J. Marchi, while Goodell rushed to the defense of the man Marchi beat in the GOP primary, Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Heeding Wilson's advice, Rockefeller had said he would support the winner and now is obliged to give lip-service backing to Marchi. The governor is unhappy with his role—and, accordingly, with Wilson—but is not letting this influence future tactics.

Goodell, a former congressman from Jamestown, fell in disfavor with conservative and moderate elements in the GOP shortly after Rockefeller appointed him last year to fill the Senate seat of the late Robert F. Kennedy. Critics say he veered off too sharply on a liberal course, his endorsement of Lindsay being a case in point.

The word is that the clubhouse Republicans have soured on Goodell, while the liberal elements he appeared to be courting regard him skeptically as a Johnny-come-lately to their philosophy.

In that light, some Rockefeller advisors have warned the governor that, instead of adding strength to the 1970 ticket, Goodell could turn out to be a liability to the governor.

Last Friday, Rockefeller said it would be "premaure" to say whether Goodell would be on the ticket.

The results of the New York City election will be assessed for their impact on the relative stature of Goodell and Wilson.

If Lindsay, running as an independent, should struggle through to victory, then Goodell will have been on the winning side and presumably could regain prestige from the reflected glory.

If Marchi should win, then conservative-minded Republicans could argue that the trend is in their direction and that Goodell should be scrapped in favor of a candidate in the Wilson mode.

If Democrat Mario Procaccino wins, then it will be a tossup. One veteran Republican, on the inside of the discussions, presented this analysis of the state-level situation:

Will Need Votes

The main thing is to arrange the ticket to attract the most votes for Rockefeller. It is generally conceded, he said, that Rockefeller will need the votes of the kind of people backing Lindsay in order to assure his own re-election. He is risking them now by not coming to Lindsay's aid.

Therefore, the analyst argued, in courting the city vote, it might be prudent for Rockefeller to separate himself a bit from Wilson, who is closely identified with Lindsay's opponent. As it is, voters cast a single ballot for governor and lieutenant governor, and Rockefeller might be hurt by city reprisals against Wilson.

An additional dividend, he said, is that Wilson could be expected to run well as a Senate candidate upstate, where Rockefeller's own vote-getting capacity has been diminishing. Thus Rockefeller could benefit from Wilson's presence on the ticket where it would help and avoid a direct pairing where it might hurt.

Another source said the discussion might come to the decision-making stage even before the election, if the governor and his advisers believe they can predict the outcome with assurance.

Tyrrell Tells Ray: Start Proceedings

James J. Tyrrell, Republican candidate for mayor of Kingston, today requested Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan to institute legal proceedings in the city's behalf as a result of a dispute between the city and the State Board of Equalization and Assessments.

Tyrrell said, "If Mayor Garraghan is sincere and really believes the city has a bona fide case against the State Board of Equalization and Assessments and he can prove that there has been an error in the level of assessments, or an error in the information and data the State Board of Equalization and Assessments used, and a change in the equalization rate is warranted, he can institute legal proceedings under Section 816 of the Real Property Tax Law, after the county legislature officially adopts the equalization rate as determined by the State Board of Equalization and Assessments."

Tyrrell sent a written communication to Mayor Garraghan, after the mayor announced he had written Gov.

Rockefeller to intercede in behalf of the city in the dispute with the State Board of Equalization and Assessments over the City's rate reduction from 38 per cent to 36 per cent.

The Republican candidate continued, "I do not believe Gov. Rockefeller has any jurisdiction over the findings of the State Board of Equalization and Assessments because it is an independent agency of the state government."

Tyrrell concluded, "as a result of action taken by the present administration, the assessment rolls, for the first time in the city's history have been closed to public scrutiny. Unless there has been a drastic reduction in assessments in the city during the past 3½ years, there would appear to be no justification for the reduction from 38 per cent to 36 per cent, announced by the State Board of Equalization and Assessments. This reduction will result in approximately $2 per thousand increase in the school tax to be received within the next few weeks."

Power Situation Critical In New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—Emergency repairs Monday eased New York City's worst power crisis since the blackout of 1965, but the situation was expected to remain potentially critical for another month.

A series of breakdowns beginning last Thursday knocked out three generators producing 1.8 million kilowatts — more than a fifth of the normal 8.1-million-kilowatt capacity of Consolidated Edison, the city's principal power producer.

By nightfall two 400,000-kilowatt generators had been repaired but the million-kilowatt Ravenswood power plant was still out of action. Con Ed Chairman Charles F. Luce said the threat of power shortages will continue until the big plant is back in service.

Luce estimated that it will take a month to six weeks to restore the Ravenswood generator to full production. It was the second time in less than three weeks that Con Ed had warned of a potential shortage and appealed to customers to restrict their use of electric power. Mayor John V. Lindsay ordered Municipal Services Administrator John Duba to look into the situation and called also for an investigation by the state Public Service Commission.

Con Ed tided the city over Monday's crisis by purchasing 1.4 million kilowatts from other utility firms as far away as Ohio, more than doubling its usual outside purchase of about 670,000 kilowatts a day.

Con Ed's troubles began when an electrical breakdown knocked out the Ravenswood generator at dawn Thursday. The two smaller generators were put out of service by boiler failures, one Friday and the other Sunday.

Tree Limb Hits Car, One Hurt

KINGSTON — A 31-year-old woman was injured shortly after 8 p. m. Monday when a large limb fell from a tree and crashed through the windshield of her car as she drove along Greenkill Avenue. Three other persons were injured in traffic accidents investigated by police.

According to authorities, Jackie R. Van Etten, of 42 Wall Street, was driving a vehicle along the avenue when the limb crashed and smashed the windshield of the car. She was hit in the face by shattered glass and taken to Kingston Hospital. The limb damaged her car and a parked vehicle owned by Aloysius Caracchi of 16 North Wilbur Avenue, police reports noted.

At 8:40 p. m. yesterday cars operated by Edward Levine, 47, of Becket Street, and James G. Gardiner, 47, of 76 Fairmont Avenue, were involved in a collision at North Front and Converse Streets.

Jim J. Gardiner, 16, sustained lacerations and injuries of the forehead, police reported.

Shortly after 8:45 p. m., cars driven by Louis F. DeCicco, 36, of 294 Fourth Avenue, and Raymond Cook, 37, of 65 Van Buren Street, collided on Broadway at McEntee Street. Both drivers were attempting turns at the time of the impact. Cook was cited for crossing a double line.

In another mishap reported by police, cars operated by Robert Melton, 17, of 8 Stony Run East, and Jack M. Schleede, 47, of 80 Yarmouth Street, were damaged when they collided on Broadway at Henry Street. Melton complained of neck pains after the accident. Melton's car was stopped when it was hit in the rear, according to a police report.

Red Hook Representatives To Attend Police Sessions

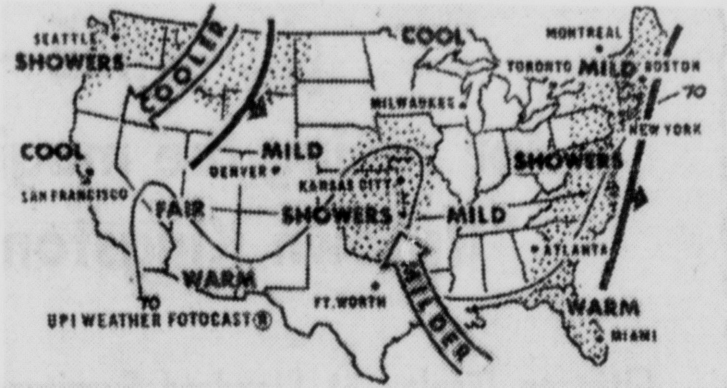

RED HOOK were scheduled at the request of District Five Representative Madison Sipperley, and will deal with general police work pertaining to local situations. In other business, a "general cleanup day" for village residents to get rid of all rubbish and unwanted vegetation has been scheduled for Aug. 11. It is estimated that another cleanup day will be set for late autumn. "It has been difficult to get to this matter this summer because of the amount of roadwork that the crew is required to do," said Mayor Hand.

Village Clerk Francis Rabbett commented that state sponsored Hometown beautification Project was working out very well. "We have had a good report on the kids," he noted.

Trustee Robert Bowman said that the program is ". . . good for the kids; good for the village; and does not cost us much."

St. Johns Street work will be progressing this week on installing drainage equipment. The advantages of "hot mix" or a thorough paving job were discussed, with the general consensus that the least costly method should be employed. "It takes a lot of maintenance to keep a one-inch thick road in good condition," commented Rabbett.

For Period Ending 7 a. m. EST Wednesday

Tonight, showers will occur along the Atlantic Coast, and in portions of the Northern Pacific Coastal area, Northern Rockies, and the Central Plains. Fair to partly cloudy skies will prevail elsewhere. Mild and warm temperatures are expected through most of the nation, except for cooler weather over the Pacific Northwest and the Great Lakes region. Minimum temperature forecasts include: Atlanta 66, Boston 67, Chicago 60, Denver 62, Duluth 62, Ft. Mrs. Roberta Riel answers your Money and Budget Questions

Question: Are there savings banks in each of the United States?
Mrs. FGH, Glenford, N. Y.

Answer: No. Not every state has savings banks for the convenience and benefit of their residents. New York State has always been foremost in providing this service. Ulster Savings is the oldest savings bank in Ulster County, having been chartered in 1851.

Question: Can only depositors of your bank purchase savings bank money orders? Mrs. AFB, Whiteport, N. Y.

Answer: No. Anyone may purchase money orders from US at fifteen cents each in any amount up to two hundred fifty dollars.

4 Nabbed On Series Of Alarms

KINGSTON

Residents of the city were alarmed early today when the fire alarm horn blared out a series of alarms within a half hour, causing many inquiries to be made by persons who thought a major fire was in progress.

Two alert police officers subsequently arrested three youths and a juvenile and charged them with falsely reporting an incident—sounding false alarms of fire.

Booked at police headquarters and scheduled for City Court appearances were, William Nickerson, 21, of 23 Hemlock Street; Brian Kelly, 16, of 66 East Chester Street, and Ronald S. Lapiana, 16, of 70 Cedar Street.

The juvenile was released and the charge against him was referred to the Juvenile Aid Bureau of the police department.

The arresting officers were Patrolmen Junious Harris and Ronald Natoli, who also cited Nickerson for operating a motor vehicle past a stop sign.

The first alarm was sounded from Box 2434 at Delaware Avenue and Murray Street at 12:35 a. m. Firemen responded to the call and at few minute intervals alarms were sounded from Box 2521 at First and Moore Streets, Box 5522 at Clifton Avenue and Stephan Street, Box 4641 at Merritt and Merilina Avenue, and the fifth call came in from Box 4621 at Lucas and Miller's Lane.

Police said the four accused youths rode around from one section of the city to another in an automobile.

MOON ROCKS — Scientist at Houston's Manned Spacecraft Center on Monday opened the second box of rocks returned to Earth by the Apollo 11 crew. Scientist examines a pan of moon rocks, one of which contains shiny crystal-like object. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Birthday Time In Quarantine

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Moon explorer Neil A. Armstrong celebrates his 39th birthday today with his 18 quarantine pals and only 26 candles for his cake.

Armstrong and his Apollo 11 colleagues Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins were in their 16th day of isolation, intended to keep possible L. nar bugs from getting loose on earth. All remained in excellent health.

If no illnesses turn up or no dangerous organisms appear in the rocks the astronauts brought home, they'll be returned to the outer world next Monday. With them are 16 other persons—doctors, technicians, a cook and two rock researchers accidentally exposed to moon dust.

The cook, Jesse Stewart, said he would bake "a regular cake" starting from scratch. He said he wouldn't use a cake mix because "then it would be somebody else's cake." It will be vanilla with vanilla icing.

Stewart reported a thorough search of the quarantine quarters turned up only 26 candles.

In another part of the building, scientists and geologists found black silt and a few moon chunks splashed with colorful crystals when they opened the second, and last, box of lunar surface material gathered by Armstrong and Aldrin during their moon stay.

The box contained small rocks, ranging from gravel to orange-size. They were covered with the same powdery black moon dust found in the first box, opened more than a week ago.

Dr. Jeff Warner, one of the geologists observing the L. x opening, said white, pink and grayish-brown crystals were scattered over the surfaces of several of the rocks, which appeared to be rather soft.

Some scientists said the crystals indicated the rocks were molten at one time and apparently cooled quickly. Such molten rock could have been caused by volcanic action or the heat generated by meteor impact.

Warner reported those studying the moon material have differences of opinion on the findings to date and emphasized that months of research will be needed to draw definite conclusions.

"It's clear to me—although not to some of my colleagues—that these rocks are quite different from what we generally find on earth," Warner said. "They're not like any kind of rocks I've ever worked with."

"There's going to be a helluva lot we're going to learn. The controversy over the origin of the moon has often been stated as being: Was it a hot moon or a cold moon?"

"I feel the controversy over the moon that will come to light in the next few months will be whether the moon is like the earth or not like the earth."

Scientist: 'Wow' On Mariner Shots

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 7 streaked across the Martian south polar cap today, snapping and storing pictures scientists said would glue to night's television viewers to their chairs.

Preliminary signals flashed on monitors at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory were evidence, a spokesman said, that the photographs as finally transmitted would be "beautiful," showing features of the planet's southern hemisphere never seen before.

Commented Dr. Robert B. Leighton, California Institute of Technology astronomer, as he viewed the incoming signals: "Wait until you see the full scale pictures of the polar cap—Wow! We are seeing the antarctic wastes of Mars."

Confusing to Newsmen

To newsmen the signals were a confusing hash of white and gray squares. Scientists' trained eyes, however, saw patterns which they identified as craters, large dark areas and the vast white polar cap.

In telescope photographs the cap appears smoothly circular. Approach pictures by Mariner 7 and its twin, Mariner 6, which swept along the Martian equator last Thursday, showed that the cap really has a ragged fringe and a dark splotch in the center.

Scientists expected Mariner 7's closeups to help solve the puzzles created by these new findings, perhaps answering the question of whether the cap is made of ice or frozen carbon dioxide—"dry ice."

Mariner 7's fly-by pictures from 2,000 miles high were stored on tape for televising over three hours starting at 8:30 EDT tonight.

During the fly-by, flight controllers turned on scientific instruments to measure the temperature of the planet's surface and the chemistry of its atmosphere. All worked flawlessly, including an infrared scanner scientists thought might have been damaged when the spacecraft went silent for seven hours last week.

Mariner 6 radiod data indicating that the Martian temperature ranges from 75 degrees above to 100 degrees below zero Fahrenheit and that its atmosphere has no nitrogen, an essential element in life on earth. Results of Mariner 7's scientific experiments are to be given at a news conference Thursday. Mission of the two spacecraft was to determine whether the mysterious red planet could support life.

Dr. Norman Horowitz, California Institute of Technology biologist, commented: "If there is any living thing on Mars, it would have to be able to run very fast—to escape the meteorites which have pocked its surface."

A few hours before the fly-by Mariner 7 televised a series of pictures snapped earlier in the day which hinted that some of the long dark lines on Mars may be segments of the rims of huge craters.

Lines Called Canals

The lines were called canals by early astronomers who thought they might carry irrigation water to greenish areas once believed to nourish vegetation, and appear straight in telescope pictures. In the spacecraft pictures, however, they seem slightly curved and lumpy.

"We're still not sure what they are, but we don't call them canals any more," said Bradford Smith, New Mexico State University astronomer who is a member of the scientific team studying the photos.

APPLY NOW FOR ADMISSION TO THE FALL SEMESTER

Registration for Classes on Tuesday, September 2, 6:15-9:00 P. M.

Evening Classes Begin Thursday, September 4.

To be eligible to register in September, men and women interested in earning a B.A. degree should telephone or write the Director of Admissions, Mr. David Flynn, now, Mr. Flynn will be glad to give you further information, send you formal application blanks, a schedule of fall classes, and a catalogue.

Qualified men and women may either take various courses to meet their interests or needs, or they may major in Business Administration, Chemistry, English, History, Mathematics, or Physics in order to work towards a B.A. degree or to complete the requirements for a B.A. degree if they have completed some of their college studies elsewhere.

The Dean, Dr. John Schroeder, may be consulted during evening hours by appointment.

Passaic Police Enforce Curfew; Sixteen Arrested

PASSAIC, N.J. (AP) — A burned out a two-story office building and two others burned today after a second night of firebombing and looting ravaged a predominantly Puerto Rican neighborhood here.

Police reported one instance of shooting and said about 1,000 persons gathered in one small area at the peak of the disorders Monday. Sixteen persons were arrested.

Police sealed off the tenement section bordering the main downtown business district and fired tear gas before heavy rains cleared streets. Mayor Bernard Pinck imposed a curfew to start at 9:30 p.m., closed taverns and banned sales of gasoline in containers.

Three buildings were hit by firebombs. One scorched the roof of City Hall, across the main business street from the Puerto Rican area. Another

SENATE CONTENDER

Theodore Sorensen, former aide to President John F. Kennedy, will run for the Senate in 1970, according to another former Kennedy associate, William J. Van Den Heuvel. Van Den Heuvel said Sorensen has brought his brother to New York to head his campaign for the nomination. Sorensen will seek the late Robert F. Kennedy's seat which is now held by Charles Goodell, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's appointee. Former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg is also expected to seek the Democratic nomination for the Senate. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Saugerties GOP Changes Caucus

SAUGERTIES, that the Republican Town caucus to be held in the 5th election district will be held at the Centerville Methodist Church Hall, on Aug. 9, at 8 p.m.

The caucus is being held for the purpose of electing Republican delegates to the Town of Saugerties Republican convention for the nomination of candidates for town office. Only enrolled Republicans of the District may vote at the caucus.

It should be noted that the polling place for this caucus is the Centerville Methodist Church Hall and not the Centerville Fire House Hall where it is usually held, Breitenbach said.

Two men were arrested Monday night by police on charges of harassment after they were accused of causing a disturbance and refusing to leave Wolf's Grill at 97 Abeel Street.

Joseph Schoonmaker, 22, of 160 Tilden Avenue, Port Ewen, and John C. Cole, 26, of 69 West Union Street, were scheduled to appear in City Court.

The complaint was made by Cambura L. Mumford.

Rochester GOP Caucus

Town of Rochester enrolled Republicans will caucus at the Grange Hall here on Aug. 29 to choose town candidates for the fall elections.

A. Richard Terwilliger, town chairman, has invited all enrolled Republicans to the meeting, set for 8 p.m.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened mixed today in moderately active trading.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI stock market indicator was off 0.08 per cent on 310 issues traded. Of these, 119 declined, and 116 advanced.

Chemicals were steady to slightly easier, while motors showed a steady tone. Oils and electronics showed scattered strength.

DuPont dipped 3/4 to 124 1/2 among the chemicals. Eastman Kodak and Dow, however, were unchanged at 74 1/2 and 70 1/2, respectively.

Tivoli Postpones Board Meeting

The regularly scheduled monthly meeting of the Village of Tivoli Board was postponed last night until Wednesday evening.

Mayor Mortimer Appel stated that "too much recent paper work has forced the postponement." No definite word has been received on steps to correct the decadent dam situation in the village. Several area residents have expressed concern of late, particularly because of the heavy rainfall accumulation.

KINGSTON recommendations of Supt. of Schools W. Wendell Hoover which calls for an increase of $125 for 12 month employees to the present salary structure, and an increase of $104 for 10 month employees.

The Board has not changed its decision regarding the acceptance of Dr. Hoover's recommendations, it was said. At a special meeting of the Board held after the meeting with the ESKA negotiating committee, J. Brian Steeves was appointed acting director of music in the Kingston schools on recommendation of Dr. Hoover.

ESKA had urged the Board members to accept the recommendations of Dr. Louis R. Salkever, fact-finder appointed by the State Public Employees Board, which would provide for the regular increments plus an increase of $200 across the board for 12-month employees and the regular increments plus $166 across the board for 10 month employees.

Sister M. Berenice

A rare destiny was fulfilled by the late Sister M. Berenice, who for 35 years was administrator of Benedictine Hospital and a nun for 55 years having been professed in 1914. Through the dedicated employment of her faculties in the public service, she set an example worthy of emulation. The health and well being of area residents were her deepest concern and interest. She leaves affectionate memories in the hearts of the people of this community.

Endowed with tremendous energy and boundless generosity, Sister Berenice inspired and maintained full confidence in the Benedictine Hospital to effectuate its vital health role here. The public confidence has been manifest down through the years in the increasing use of its facilities by those who require its services and by the generous support of its benefactors.

Sister Berenice's instinctive capacity for making friends helped gain wide acceptance of the important role of the Benedictine in the life of this community. Civic leaders cheerfully and enthusiastically joined her in conducting several fund-raising campaigns and the financial support from the public was most gratifying. The substantial legacies also received by the local hospital were a personal tribute to her.

Sister Berenice's work at the Benedictine was marked by dedication and self-sacrificing devotion and thousands of patients will remember her fondly.

Residents of Ulster County have much to be thankful that Sister Berenice was assigned to labor in this area. The modern hospital which stands atop the Benedictine Hill attests to her foresight and achievement.

Moon Blamed for Rain

The wettest July ever recorded on the East Coast has been blamed by many people on what they call man's "meddling with the moon." Among the weather watchers who saw the hand of the Almighty in the deluge were an airline pilot and a professor emeritus from a theological school.

The theologian quoted two verses to support his theory that God showed his displeasure that man should land on the moon. First, Revelations, 16:16, in which the Apostle John tells of the end of the world and the gathering of the people at Armageddon for the final battle between good and evil. Then, Matthew 24:24, in which Christ warns of false prophets before the coming of the Son of Man.

The weatherman has another explanation. A high pressure area in the Atlantic was stalled over the Northeast. Trapped, it sopped up water from the ocean and dropped it in the form of heavy rain. Air from the West will clear the skies and end the continuing rainfall.

For a week or more, the moaners had a field day. The fact that the heavy rain began on the lift-off to the moon and was continuing both through the landing and the splashdown gave the wailers and the grumblers a chance to blame it all on the moon landing. But there was no end of the world, so natural phenomena must be blamed this time.

As Scripture also says, in the words of Christ speaking to His Apostles before His Ascension, "It is not for you to know the times or seasons when the Father has set within His own authority." (Acts 1:17).

Lesson Still Unlearned

There were two observances of the same anniversary in Cleveland the other day.

Downtown, hundreds of policemen wearing black armbands over their blue coatsleeves marched in solemn parade to attend a memorial mass in honor of three white policemen killed in an eruption of racial violence in the city's Glenville district the year before.

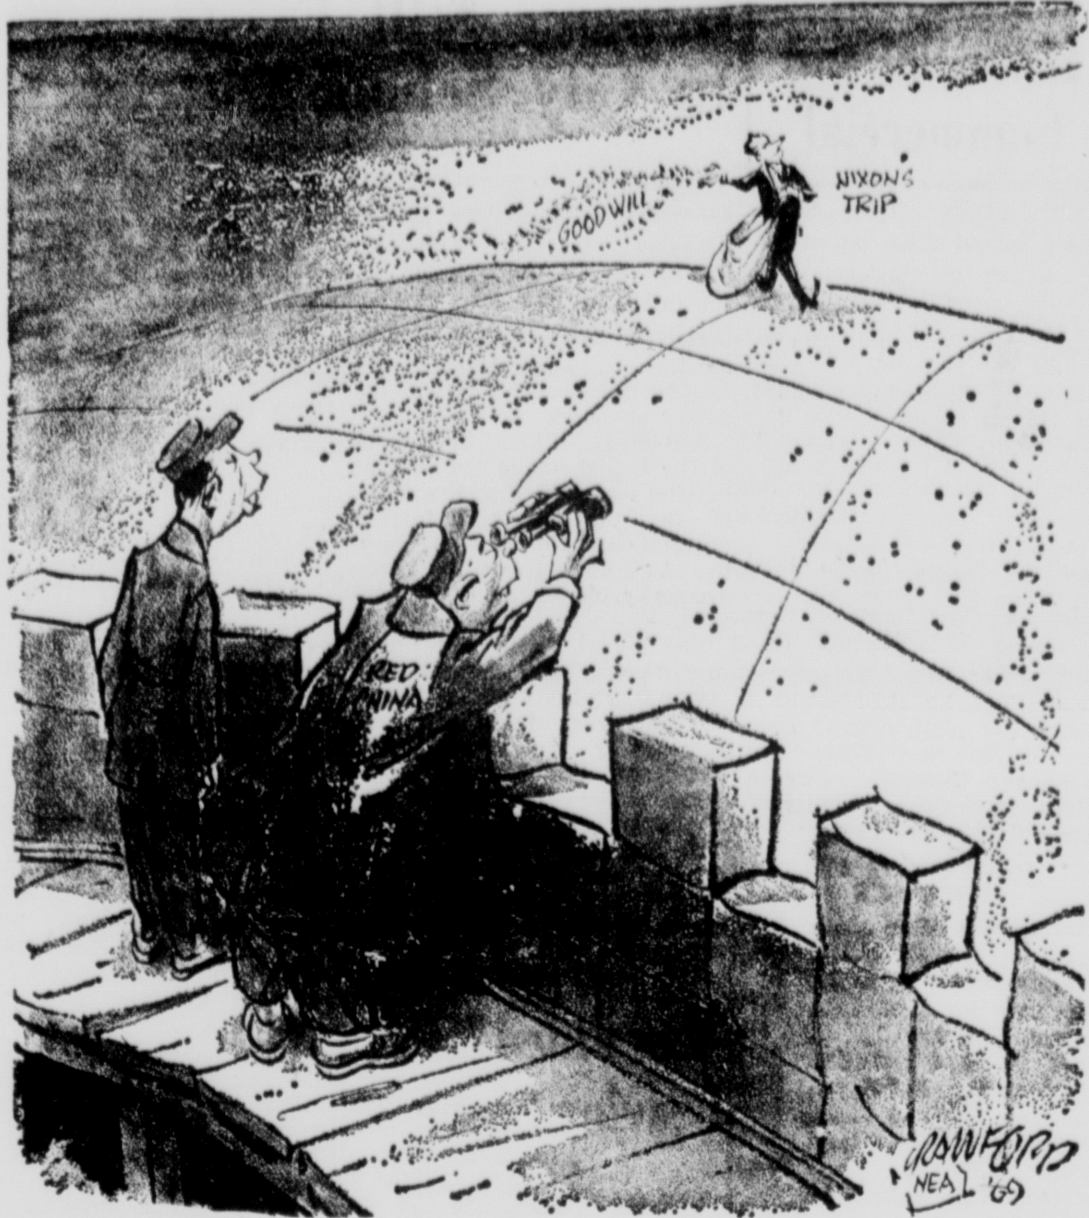

At the same time, in Glenville, some 2,000 black Clevelanders carrying the red, green and black flag of the black nationalist movement and with their fists raised in the nationalist salute, marched in honor of their own seven dead.

Two groups, one predominantly white, one black, separate—but not unequal in their power to perpetuate the gulf that divides Americans.

The tragedy that took 10 lives in Cleveland a year ago was a tragedy for an entire city, shared by all its citizens of whatever color. Its commemoration ought also to have been shared by all, in one common observance.

That it was not suggests that very little has been learned and very little has changed in the past 12 months, and that for one city, if not a nation, more sorrowful lessons remain in store.

The Nixon Administration has not crowded the Civil Service with top ranking appointments. A Civil Service report says that white collar employees rose 19 per cent in the last five years, but supervisors have remained about the same. The report bears out Republican patronage seekers, who criticize the administration for not passing out the gravy.

"It's Poison Gas!"

David Lawrence Says Nixon's Trip Could Open Way for 'Summit' Meeting

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's trip to Asia and Eastern Europe may turn out to have been his most important achievement since taking office. For it may help to start constructive steps toward the ultimate goal — maintenance of world peace.

Far from being in any way a move that could be construed as critical of Soviet government policies, the visit to Romania was really an example of America's readiness to make direct contacts and engage in frank conversation with the heads of governments which are regarded as on the Communist side of the fence.

The American president by his talks at Bucharest may have opened the door not merely to further meetings in the East — European countries which are under Communist domination but with the Moscow government itself. Already a "summit" conference seems assured.

What stands out now as a sign of progress is the initiation of broad discussions about the future of all the disadvantaged countries, whether in Asia or Europe.

There was a surprising note, for instance, in the remarks of President Ceausescu of Romania, who, in welcoming President Nixon, said:

"We believe that in the complex conditions of international affairs, today, the development of relations between states on the basis of the principles of peaceful coexistence and respect for independence, sovereignty, equal rights and noninterference in the internal affairs, represents the safe way toward promoting a climate of confidence and understanding among peoples and of peace and security in the world."

Mr. Nixon couldn't have expressed it better himself.

The basic concept, if adhered to, can do much to preserve peace. All the peoples of Eastern Europe — particularly the Czechoslovak populace — will read this declaration and say to themselves that it's exactly what they have been asking for.

But what is the effect upon the men in the Kremlin? Do they regard this visit by Mr. Nixon as an "intrusion"? Some probably will, though the Moscow government must realize that the West, led by the United States, did not interfere in any way even when the Soviets ordered their troops into Czechoslovakia to secure adherence to Communist party doctrines. Moral force alone was exerted by the peoples of the West.

The world knew that the peoples of Eastern Europe were deeply sympathetic to Czechoslovakia. For the real issue did not involve ideological doctrines, but whether the so-called Communist Bloc countries were to be allowed to enjoy the "independence, sovereignty, equal rights and noninterference in internal affairs" which the Romanian President now espouses in a public ceremony with President Nixon.

Realism demands a different view of the Czechoslovakian debacle than has emerged from Moscow since the unfortunate invasion was ordered. The undercurrents among the peoples of the Eastern European countries show that the desire for assurances of freedom is today stronger than ever.

The Soviet government usually moves slowly to change its policies. It doesn't allow anything to be printed immediately on some subjects by the newspapers because the executive group in the party isn't always sure what should be said. If the top men in the Soviet government were a bit more alert on the "public relations" side, they would take advantage of Mr. Nixon's visit and suggest that he come to Russia next time.

For what is plainly needed is a better understanding of American motives. What the Soviet Union must perceive is that friction between the major powers can lead to a suicidal war and that, if all thought of annexing or dominating neighboring countries were given up, the road would be cleared for the restoration of freedom in Eastern Europe and the improvement of economic conditions there.

Mr. Nixon has manifested a constructive attitude toward the problems of Asia as well as Europe. A common sense approach now by the Kremlin too, could inaugurate a hopeful era in the formulation of policies dealing with limitation of armament and the many other vital questions that have to be settled amicably if world peace is to be assured.

Drew Pearson Says Senators Respect Ted Kennedy, But May Question His Judgment

WASHINGTON — With the possible exception of the one man whom he replaced as majority whip, probably all the Democratic membership of the Senate was distressed and disturbed over the recent plight of Sen. Edward Kennedy. Now that he has returned to the Senate, they are sympathetic and eager to help him.

The Senate is a "club" in both reputation and fact, and even Sen. Tom Dodd, who had lost the respect of most of his colleagues by his ringing defense of his personal use of campaign funds, has been received with scrupulous courtesy — though many senators have hoped that he would resign.

With Teddy it is different. For Teddy there has been genuine warmth and affection. This was not true in the case of his two elder brothers. Jack was absent a great deal. He was in the hospital with back trouble. He used to spend part of the winter at his father's Palm Beach home, from which he came back on one occasion to explain his negative vote against the Tennessee Valley Authority: "I guess I was around too many of Dad's economic royalists."

Bobby chafed at the routine of the Senate, was frequently absent, never attended committee meetings unless they really interested him, and although his voting record was excellent, he was never a working member of the club.

But Teddy has been continuously on the job. He picks his Senate battles not because they are easy, but because they affect the broadest segment of the population — the little people. In his short period as majority whip his Senate record has been magnificent.

Can He Be Effective? But old Senate hands, such as like him, wonder whether he can continue to be effective following the tragedy of Chappaquiddick. It is not that Senators are prudish about an office party or sex or drinking on the side. They think Teddy can live this down just as other members of his family have.

It is, rather, the memory of that dead girl, left under water for nine long hours when earlier she might have been rescued. That's the memory they think will come back to haunt Teddy, may influence Senate debate.

While he is in debate, while he is drumming up crucial votes — a roll call, while he is arguing in committee, how many Senators will resist the picture of the pretty blonde, abandoned, with her face up, gasping for breath, while their colleague from Massachusetts failed to summon help?

In the closed door intensity of party debate, where no record is being transcribed, it would be very easy for an opposing Senator to question Kennedy's judgment by asking what kind of judgment he had exercised on the tragic night of July 18.

What kind of judgment had he exercised when he passed by the Dyke house, with a light burning, only eight or ten feet from the road and less than a hundred feet from the bridge where the tragedy occurred? And what kind of judgment did the Senator exercise when he passed up other houses to walk back a mile and a quarter to the "party" cottage and even then not summon help?

How can the Senator be so firm in his convictions regarding the need to abolish the oil depletion allowance, some Senator is almost sure to taunt, when he has exercised such erroneous judgment in the past?

Senators do not say these things in the heat of formal debate, or if they do, they are quickly expunged from the record.

But they can be virulent, even bitter, in whispered conversations on the floor or in Senate cloakrooms. It was only 30 years ago that Sen. Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee pulled a Bowie knife on Sen. Royal Copeland of New York and lunged at him on the Senate floor. And during the Civil War, Rep. Preston Brooks of South Carolina walked over to the Senate floor and, using a heavy walking stick, so beat up Sen. Charles Sumner of Massachusetts that Sumner was incapacitated for three years.

More Questions It is highly unlikely that Senators who get into a wrangle with Teddy will pass up the opportunity to ask him how his conscience permitted him to ask the clerk of the Shiretown Inn at 2:25 a.m. to restrain a noisy party next door because he couldn't sleep, when his own conscience permitted him to forget about the golden-haired girl he had abandoned in his submerged car, or why did he happen to be wearing a neatly pressed coat and trousers at that hour when he later testified that he had jumped into the water with his clothes on and swam across Chappaquiddick channel?

In some respects it is not that these questions will be asked, but rather that Teddy will know they could be asked, which may put a damper on the courage and energy of the promising young man from Massachusetts.

Modern Senators on the whole are kindly and respectful. Newspapersmen and politicians are not. And there are many of both who resent the manner in which the Kennedy juggernaut operates to suppress newspaper criticism of the Kennedys and to squelch political opposition to the Kennedy clan. The Kennedy juggernaut has been quiet of late. But it emerged from behind the scenes in full force the other weekend when ghostwriter after ghostwriter, ranging from ex-secretary Bobby McNamara to Arthur Schlesinger, who flew all the way back from Romania, converged on Cape Cod.

This is a mass display of resentment, not sympathy.

There are many politicians also who have come to grips with the Kennedy political machine, carefully greased, equipped with advance men, bands, private airplanes, advance publicity and hundreds of thousands of dollars of campaign funds surreptitiously spent in the right places but never accounted for.

They too have memories and they will not be as respectful as Senators.

Supersnooping Bugs British

By TOM CULLEN

LONDON — (NEA) — The average Englishman has suddenly awakened to the fact that his home is no longer his castle.

Far from being an impregnable fortress, his home is subject to invasion from a dozen secret sources including curious computers, "bugs" in the bedroom and taps on the telephone. Unfortunately for British — American relations, most of the hardware used by the snoopers comes with a "made in America" label.

Of all the supersnoopers that threaten the average citizen, Parliament is most concerned about the computer. There is nothing intrinsically evil about the computer, but the way it's being used (or abused) in the United States and Britain alarms parliamentarians.

Data banks are being set up in both countries to store computerized information on millions of citizens without their knowledge, according to B. J. Hargreaves, director of public affairs for IBM (UK) Limited, itself one of the biggest manufacturers of electronic equipment.

Hargreaves predicts that these data banks eventually will store not only birth, marriage, school, military and employment records, but such detailed private information as income, charge accounts, medical and health records and "moral hazards" — i.e. heavy drinking, extramarital affairs.

The United States, which is far ahead of Britain in these matters, has perfected a laser process whereby 650 million bits of information can be stored on one square inch of tape. A single reel can store up to 20 pages of information on every man, woman and child in America.

All of this was brought out during a congressional investigation into invasion of privacy, but Britain (which usually lags behind America from five to 10 years) has just awakened to the fact that Big Brother is also on its doorstep.

Microphones no bigger than a pinhead, vest-pocket cameras, radio transmitters built into eyeglasses, hearing aids or coat buttons and radio pills (which turn victims into human transmitters as soon as they are swallowed) are all to common here.

Ben Jamil, a New York manufacturer of these "bugging" devices, was refused a license to demonstrate his wares at a U.S. Trade Fair held in London, but many of them have found their way onto the British market anyway with private detectives doing most of the buying.

Britain has over 15,000 private detectives, or "inquiry agents," as they are known in genteel circles. Many of them specialize in divorce cases and their methods are anything but genteel. If it weren't for good old American knowhow, their jobs would be much harder.

Adultery is almost the only recognized grounds for divorce and the detectives will go to almost any length to get evidence. Judges have begun to crack down on private eyes who resort to invasions of privacy, but even if the divorce detectives are forced out of businesses, the industrial spies, who gobble up all the hardware they can get, will be a lot harder to eliminate.

Recently Ian Withers, a self-proclaimed industrial spy, showed how spying devices could be concealed in a book, a briefcase or even a bowler hat.

It's all very upsetting to the British, who get as much of a kick out of James Bond-type razzle-dazzle as Americans do, but who have thought all along that such things were purely in the province of books and films. Now they know better.

Tax Reform Bill In House for Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Having completed congressional action on a six-month compromise extension of the income surcharge, the House now heads for debate on the massive tax reform bill.

Preliminary skirmishing centered today in the Rules Committee, which must decide whether to give critics of the reform bill as it is now drafted a chance to offer amendments.

Monday's 237-170 House vote assured extension of the 10 per cent surcharge only through Dec. 31. But an additional six-month extension, at 5 per cent, is included in the tax reform bill.

The entire extension is needed, the Nixon administration argues, if inflation is to be brought under control.

However, a group of Democrats wants to knock the additional 5 per cent extension out of the reform bill, which comes up for debate Wednesday with a vote planned for Thursday.

They also seek an opportunity to offer an amendment readjusting the proposed income tax rate reductions in the bill. The critics want to give less relief to upper bracket taxpayers and more to those in the middle brackets.

The Rules Committee customarily sends tax bills to the House under a "closed rule," permitting no amendments but only a yes or no vote on the entire issue.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee is asking for this kind of handling of the tax reform bill and indications were the Rules Committee would go along.

There is more than usual pressure for departure from custom, however. Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, met Monday with members of the Democratic Study Group, the unofficial organization of House liberal and moderate Democrats, then drafted a letter to all Democratic members asking them to appear before the Rules Committee in behalf of a procedure permitting amendments.

Voting Monday on the six-month extension showed Democratic sentiment is still heavily against the surtax. There were 144 Democrats and 26 Republicans opposed to the bill, while 85 Democrats joined 152 Republicans in favoring it.

The Safeguard Debate Has Tinge of Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tinge of politics is shading the waning hours of the Senate's missile defense debate, but a Democratic champion of the Safeguard system says he can't see it as a future campaign issue.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said he does not believe a political campaigner would be successful in raising it as an issue against President Nixon.

"When you have a subject before the Senate based on the concept of defending yourself," Jackson said in an interview, "I can't for the life of me see how that's going to hurt the person who is advocating it."

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., told the Senate Monday Safeguard could prove a major political liability to the Republican President. He said deployment would feed the arms race and lead to increasing neglect of problems at home.

"And the administration will have to face the electorate encumbered by a costly blunder, just as the previous administration had to face the people encumbered by Vietnam," said McGovern, considered a possible contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972.

Although there will be more debate on the $20 billion military procurement authorization bill, the key vote on Nixon's Safeguard plan is due Wednesday.

That roll call vote will come on an amendment which would bar the use of the $759 million in Safeguard funds to be authorized this year for steps leading to actual deployment of the system. That would restrict work to research and development.

"I trust we can defeat it," said Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader.

"It's the cliffhanger I've seen in my years here," said Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader and an opponent of deployment.

Author Dies In Dutchess

CASTLE POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Thomas H. Ormsbee, noted author of several books on antiques, died Sunday at the U. S. Veterans Hospital at Castle Point in Dutchess County. He would have been 79 on Aug. 25.

A native of Brooklyn, Ormsbee wrote such books on antiques as "Collecting Antiques in America" in 1940; "Care and Repair of Antiques" in 1949; "A Field Guide of American Furniture" in 1951; "English China and Its Marks" in 1959 and "The Windsor Chair" in 1960. He was a contributing columnist on antiques to Home & Garden magazine and wrote a weekly syndicated newspaper column "Know your Heirlooms."

Ormsbee was a 1915 graduate of Middlebury, Vt. college and married Renee Richmond Huntley in 1918. He founded the "American Collector" in 1933 and continued as editor until 1946.

Ormsbee had been a patient at the Castle Point veterans facility two years.

Cornell Disciplinary System Gives Way to New Regulations

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Cornell University's disciplinary system, one of the factors in campus strife last spring, will be scrapped in favor of new regulations to be drafted by a so-called task force.

Dale R. Corson, university provost, said he directed the task force to revise the current student code, provide a student judicial system, and implement rules and regulations about public order.

The seven-member group is made up of students, teachers and administrators. There is one black student.

Several black students said they were protesting the school's disciplinary system when they seized the student union last April. The issue was overshadowed, however, by the controversy that erupted when the students marched out of the building with firearms.

The faculty voted to punish these students but then reversed itself. The decision came under fire inside and outside the university. President James A. Perkins resigned and Corson succeeded him as the school's chief executive.

Corson said the task force also would consider ways of carrying out the regulations for maintaining order on campus.

Cornell announced these regulations last month in complying with a state law requiring universities and colleges to file a plan for handling campus troubles.

The regulations, among other things, prohibit firearms on campus, ban the use of physical force and the obstruction of campus buildings. Under the current system, an infraction is considered by a student-faculty board, then by an appeals board of students and faculty, and then — if requested — by a combination of these two boards plus other faculty members and administrators.

Corson named Franklin A. Long, professor of chemistry and director of a special science program to head the task force. Long retired July 1 as the university's vice president for research and related studies.

Also on the task force are Fraust F. Rossi, associate professor of law; James B. Maas, assistant professor of psychology; Noel Desch, director of administration and design; Arthur B. Spitzer, a junior from Douglaston; Miss Susan L. Meld, a student from Seattle, and Cleveland Donald, a graduate student from Jackson. Miss Meld is the only black.

Corson urged the group to consider carefully the degree to which the entire university community should be treated alike in procedures implementing these new regulations.

No one in the group reportedly took part in faculty and student protests during the spring or signed any of the many petitions of criticism or support.

Continue Search

MALONE, N.Y. (AP) — Police and volunteers continued to search a heavily wooded area for a third day today to try to locate a 72-year-old Watertown man.

State Police said Robert Weber, a partially blind, retired carpenter, disappeared Tuesday while visiting his former family home in the Chasm Falls-Duane area south of this Franklin County Community.

FBI After Man In Coed Deaths

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Authorities investigating the slaying of seven Michigan college coeds and teen-age girls pressed a nationwide hunt today for Andrew Manuel, 25, last seen in Salinas, Calif.

The FBI entered the investigation for the first time when a federal fugitive warrant was issued against Manuel Monday in connection with the theft of a house trailer in Michigan.

Manuel, tall and heavy, with a tattooed left forearm, was believed by authorities to have journeyed to California in June with John N. Collins, 22-year-old college student charged with the most recent of the seven girl killings in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area, a series which began in August, 1967. Manuel and Collins lived in the same Ypsilanti rooming house.

The trailer was found over the weekend near the Salinas home of Manuel's parents.

Three California girls murdered this summer—two near Salinas and one near Los Angeles—were similar in some respects to the seven in Michigan. One of the California victims was wearing only one earring. Several of the Michigan girls also had an earring missing when their bodies were found.

Edward Carlhorn, 22, a recent graduate of Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti, whose stolen motorcycle was found in the garage used by Collins, said Monday a State Police officer told him there was evidence one or two girls had been slain in a trailer. State Police declined comment.

Collins is charged with the murder of Karen Sue Beineman, an Eastern Michigan coed.

We'll bet you a $3 bill...

that modern oil is your most economical heating buy!

Think different? OK then, take out a $3 bill! Everyone knows a $3 bill is phoney. But so are claims that other fuels are cheaper than modern oil. That's because dollar for dollar modern oil heat gives you more, Much more! For one thing, you get more hot power from oil. In a given hour with the same size tank you get 3 times as much hot water from oil than from gas, 5 times more than from electricity. That's what we mean by hot power. It's why oil heat comes up faster and stays longer. Want to know something else? None of these advantages appear on your oil bills. You're not billed extra for safety either. How about dependability? What about cleanliness? Round-the-clock service? Oil surpasses other fuels on all these counts. Next time anyone tells you some other fuel is cheaper than oil — tell him you'll bet him a $3 bill.

U.S. Steel Rolls Back Part of Its Increase

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp. rolled back part of its broad-based price increase Monday, but the big steelmaker held fast to higher rates that have now been matched by virtually all major producers on materials used in the auto and appliance industries.

The company, which triggered the current round of price increases last Wednesday, lowered posted hikes on galvanized and aluminum coated sheet from $9.50 to $4.50 a ton. The move was attributed to a failure by other producers to adopt the $9.50 increase.

Major producers followed U.S. Steel's average 4.8 per cent increase. But they settled for a $4.50 a ton increase on the galvanized items, which account for about five per cent of the industry's shipments.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. was the only producer to adopt the $9.50 increase for galvanized, but it adjusted the price shortly after U.S. Steel's announcement Monday.

U.S. Steel's price on the flat-rolled products, which account for nearly half of the industry's total shipments, has met resistance from General Motors, a top customer.

The automaker's Fisher Body division last week advised U.S. Steel to hold back on shipments pending a re-evaluation of the competitive situation with respect to steel prices.

Observers say General Motors was apparently waiting to see if other producers would reject U.S. Steel's increases and post lower prices on sheet products. But the pattern was completed Monday when Republic, Jones & Laughlin, National and Wheeling-Pittsburgh matched U.S. Steel's increases on hot and cold-rolled lines.

Bethlehem, Armco, Inland and Sharon Steel increased their prices late last week.

Bronx Man Fatally Stricken While at Wheel

CEDAR GROVE

While driving his car along Route 32 near here at about 9 a. m. today, Fred Damm, 75, of 2884 Pauling Avenue, Bronx, suffered a fatal heart attack. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Herman A. Ash of Saugerties.

Ulster County Coroner Henry S. Hartley, who investigated at the scene with BCI Investigator Richard Ryan and deputy sheriffs, ruled death was due to natural causes. Hartley said Damm had been treated for a heart condition.

Damm was accompanied by a granddaughter, Margaret Campbell, when he suddenly pulled off the highway and stopped the vehicle before slumping over the wheel. The Saugerties Ambulance was at the scene.

APPOINTED — Gen. Theodore W. Parker, recently retired Chief of Staff of Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe (SHAPE), was appointed State Commissioner of Transportation by N. Y. Gov. Nelson Rockefeller on Monday. Parker, who retired from the Army in February will succeed outgoing Commissioner J. Burch McMoran. Parker served with SHAPE for six years and directed the activities of more than 600 staff officers and 2,500 enlisted men from NATO nations. The 60-year-old General is a graduate of West Point and is a native of Minneapolis, Minn. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Fire in Home, Man Charged With Mischief

NEW PALTZ

A 56-year-old man was arrested Monday night by village police on a charge of criminal mischief, after authorities investigated a fire at his home on North Front Street.

Patrolman William Luedke arrested Jimmy Lee Sheridan, 2 North Front Street, this village, after firemen extinguished fire in the defendant's home, which police said was confined to mattresses and bedding.

Sheridan was taken before Town Justice Rexford Schneider, who fixed bail at $500 and adjourned hearing until Friday. In lieu of bail the defendant was committed to the county jail.

Jury Probe Expected on Theft Charge

KINGSTON

A grand jury investigation of the case involving two men accused of the theft of an automobile in Rosendale, is expected to be conducted later this month.

Charged with grand larceny, third degree, in connection with the alleged theft are William E. Costello, 36, of New Paltz, and Vincent Ralph Maldanucca, 22, of Brooklyn. They were arrested by state police on the Thruway near Tarrytown on Sunday.

Both men waived preliminary hearing before Saugerties Town Justice Calvin Cody, who referred the case to the grand jury.

The car was owned by Donald E. Quick of 34 Roosevelt Avenue, this city. The vehicle was stolen in Rosendale.

Commissioner's Son Suspended; Had Long Hair

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Acting State Education Commissioner Ewald B. Nyquist said Monday his son, Carl, 19, was suspended from school two weeks for wearing long hair and was taken back after trimming his hair somewhat.

Nyquist decided in favor of a boy with sideburns and then revealed his son had been suspended from the same school last year.

Nyquist ruled in favor of Ronald McLagan, 16, in ordering the boy be allowed to re-enter the Ravena Coeymans-Selkirk Junior-Senior High School near Albany. The 10th grader was suspended for refusing to trim the sideburns by one inch. The case was appealed to the state and Nyquist ordered the boy reinstated.

Last week, Nyquist sided with two boys who had been penalized for wearing long hair to class.

Nyquist told reporters he gave his son a chance to make up his mind on the length of his hair after the suspension. He said his son decided to trim the locks.

support his running mates. He left me little choice."

Sen. Charles E. Goodell: The senator would not commit himself to another term in the senate but said that he was "very gratified" by the response he's been getting from political leaders and the electorate during his current swing through the state. If he chooses to run he would be up for election next year. "I can tell you this," he said. "I like the U.S. Senate very much."

The ABM issue: "I intend to vote against it. I am in favor of a bill that would give President Nixon sufficient funds for research before deploying. The system simply doesn't work. The Russians have one and theirs doesn't work. There is also a question of priorities. There are agonizing human problems that have to be solved in this country."

Vietnam: "The President has acted with persistence and patience. I applaud that policy. Peace will come on a defacto basis before it comes on a negotiated basis. There is now an apparent deescalation of the war on both sides. Negotiations will continue toward a lasting settlement after active fighting has ceased."

"I will continue to speak candidly on the issues. I am not a silent senator. The people expect leadership from their leaders," Goodell said in conclusion.

Sailboat Gone

ROSENDALE

Sheriff's deputies today investigated a complaint from Walter Williams of the Williams Lake Hotel that someone stole a 14-foot sailboat from the property.

Sgt. Raymond Davis said the boat, named Sunfish, was valued at $500. It is colored blue and seats two persons.

Another complaint from Marty Rotella of Route 28, R.D. 1, reported a truck registered to the Royal Tire Company, Railroad Avenue, Kingston, had been stolen. The theft occurred during the night. The truck is colored gray.

Rearing Due Of Ted's Case

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (UPI) — The case of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's automobile accident, which a week ago appeared closed, is all but certain to get a thorough rearing in the coming weeks.

Dist. Atty. Edmund S. Dinis is awaiting only the official word from District Judge James A. Boyle to begin an inquest into the death of 28-year-old Mary Jo Kopechne, who drowned July 18 when a car driven by Kennedy ran off a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island and plunged into a pond. Boyle is expected to authorize the inquest today or Wednesday.

Dinis' letter of request to Boyle was received Monday, and the judge took it under advisement.

District Court Clerk Thomas A. Teller said Boyle would act on the request "either tomorrow or the next day—this is, within a reasonable period."

Under Massachusetts law, Dinis has the authority simply to require the inquest be held. His request to Boyle is a formality following rejection of an earlier request for an inquest by the State Superior Court.

Osmium, a very hard, bluish-white metal, with a violet luster, is the heaviest substance known.

Up With People Nears Reality; Meeting Set

KINGSTON

Sing Out Kingston, inspired by an "Up With People" performance in the area several weeks ago, is becoming a reality.

An organizational meeting for all persons interested in forming a Sing Out cast in Kingston will be held August 13, at 7:30 p.m., at the Coach House on Augusta Street.

Those attending the meeting will lay the groundwork for the local cast. Members of the proposed Sing Out are needed for the chorus, stage work, music, sound, lighting, business and financial aspects of the organization.

At present a volunteer adult steering committee has been working on the formation of "Sing Out - Kingston" but on August 13 all the responsibilities will be turned over to the cast members.

To date, 68 young people have expressed interest in forming a local Sing Out cast by attending an informational meeting several weeks ago.

There are Sing Out casts in more than 400 communities around the world, all inspired by the traveling casts of "Up With People."

County Will Be Included In New Survey

ULSTER PARK

Ulster County is being included in a study of consumer attitudes and intentions to buy to be determined by a survey conducted this summer throughout the United States.

Under the direction of the Survey Research Center SRC of the University of Michigan, thousands of families in a broad nationwide cross-section will be interviewed in the 56th quarterly survey of changes in consumer motives, attitudes and expectations toward the economy.

In Ulster County the local interviewer is Mrs. Walter Herring of Ulster Park.

Researchers at The University of Michigan assess the mood of the U.S. buyer four times a year in order to provide valuable information for policy makers in business and government on changing trends in the economy. Approximately 200 SRC interviewers throughout the country contact persons selected for the survey.

The study to be conducted this summer includes two major sections in addition to the traditional buying attitude questions. An added section of the questionnaire will inquire about consumer attitudes toward insurance, a topic of continuing interest to the American public.

This part of the survey is done under the sponsorship of the U.S. Department of Transportation, commissioned by the Congress to conduct a thorough study of all facets of the auto insurance system. Attitudes toward the present system of insurance, as well as proposed modifications in it, will be measured.

Another section of the questionnaire contains a series of questions about stocks and other assets. Of particular interest to the researchers are the investment needs and objectives of the public, how much they know about alternative investment areas, how much planning they do regarding their investments and what kind of advice and information they would like to help them achieve their investment goals. Only those already owning stock or large amounts of other assets will be questioned on these subjects.

The findings of each quarterly survey are collected in the annual publication of Survey of Consumer Finances which is made available to the public. Press releases also make public the results of each quarterly survey.

Makes Request

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., has urged President Nixon to ask the Senate to ratify a 1925 international agreement outlawing chemical and biological warfare. Hartke's request came in the form of a Senate resolution he introduced Wednesday similar to one already introduced in the House. The 1925 Geneva agreement was rejected by the Senate in 1926.

The computer program is called "SOCRATES," an acronym for Scheduling Of Classes Realized Automatically Through Effortless Systemization. It represents a series of programs for scheduling high school students into their classes. This scheduling system processes student course requests against a master schedule of class offerings, to produce a daily class schedule for each student. The system further provides an extensive series of reports to evaluate the master schedule and help determine changes which will minimize conflicts and produce better class loads.

Under the supervision of Sanford Bernstein, Director of the BOCES Computer Center, a series of simulation runs were computer processed in order to eliminate the student schedule conflicts. The final reports will be printed for distribution to the administrators, teachers and approximately 600 students of New Paltz High School. The scheduling of students to class sections for New Paltz was processed by the Computer in ninety minutes.

Computer Scheduling will mean a saving of time and effort for Guidance personnel.

A workshop on student scheduling for all of the Ulster BOCES component schools will be held in the fall to discuss the results of the project in more detail.

The Ulster County BOCES Computer Center is located on Route 32 in New Paltz.

Tooth Tax

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — After she lost a tooth, 10-year-old Mary Read asked her mother about the possibility of the Good Fairy leaving a coin under her pillow to compensate for the missing molar.
"I hope the Fairy doesn't forget," the child worried.
"She won't," her mother said. "And I hope," the child added, "that she doesn't forget the sales tax."

List Salaries For Postmen

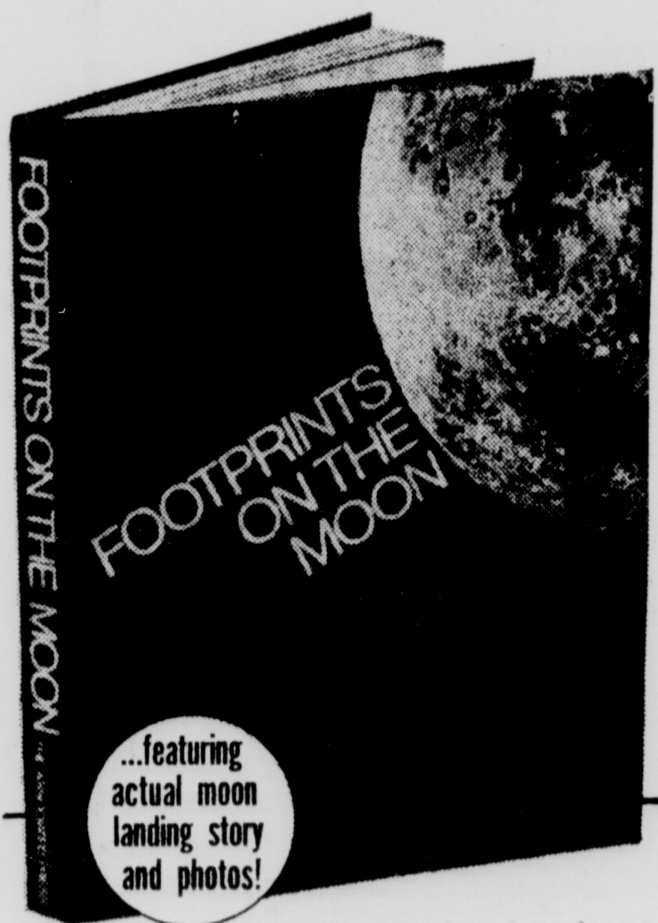

KINGSTON
Kingston Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk announced recently that a new wage schedule for substitute mail handlers, hourly rate regulars, substitute clerk carriers, and hourly rate regular mail handlers has been initiated.

The new rates are: substitute clerk carriers, $3.06 to $4.19 per hour, hourly rate regulars, $2.97 to $4.06 per hour, substitute mail handlers, $2.83 to $3.87 per hour and hourly rate regular mail handlers, $2.75 to 3.75 per hour.

It was also announced that postal employees working between the hours of 6 p. m. and 6 a. m. will receive a premium of 10 per cent per hour worked over the regular schedule.

Also, the clerk carrier and mail handler examination is open and applications may be obtained at the Post Office.

The Human, Inside Story of America's Effort to Put FOOTPRINTS ON THE MOON

Never again will there be a first landing on the moon. And never again will there be such a volume as this. Written by John Barbour, an outstanding journalist who has been helping cover the thrust into space from the start, its 70,000-word text includes much new material and is complemented by more than a hundred of the most dramatic color pictures ever taken.

To make sure that you get your copy of a first edition that doubtless will become a collector's item, you should make your reservation now.

You and your children and your children's children will find it a volume to treasure.

$200,000 In Medicare for Heart Surgeons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two famous Houston heart surgeons, Dr. Michael E. DeBakey and Dr. Denton A. Cooley, each received about $200,000 in Medicare payments last year, ranking them as apparently the highest paid doctors in the nation under the government program.

A special investigation now underway has found no indication of irregularity in the payments, which involved hundreds of difficult heart and blood vessel operations.

Investigators said the payments went mainly into a fund at the Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, rather than to the doctors personally.

Cooley has performed 20 human heart transplants, more than any other surgeon in the world.

DeBakey, the first physician to use an artificial heart pump on a human, has performed 11 transplant operations.

Washington officials said none of the Medicare money so far has gone for transplants, although one patient receiving government disability payments died in Houston while awaiting a new heart.

Official Medicare records listed $202,959 in payments for DeBakey last year.

This is the highest sum for one physician made public to date throughout the nation.

Cooley was paid $193,124 under Medicare, records showed.

This also topped the previous known high. A Medicare report sent to Congress earlier this year but compiled before 1968 records were complete had listed the highest annual payment rate at $191,000 to a Florida physician, eventually identified as Dr. Morry S. Fox, a Miami osteopath.

DeBakey said the payments covered operations performed by a team of doctors, rather than himself alone.

He said they involved "the whole range of cardiovascular operations and open heart surgery—the most complicated and the most difficult type of operations."

Medicare records show that DeBakey was paid for 642 operations last year and Cooley for 408.

DeBakey said all the Medicare payments were meant to go into the general fund of the Baylor College of Medicine. He is president of the school.

A spokesman for the treasurer's office at the Baylor medical school said most of the money for operations by DeBakey and Cooley was kept by the fund, although part of it was paid to the two physicians under a fee arrangement with the school. He would not give other details.

Cooley, 48, was a member of the Baylor faculty until he resigned this spring after a controversy over the use of a totally mechanical heart on a human patient. He is head of the Texas Heart Institute and is chief of cardiovascular surgery at two Houston hospitals.

DeBakey, 60, is chief of cardiovascular surgery at a third Houston hospital. He was the first physician to introduce the use of synthetic tubes to replace blood vessels damaged by ballooning, or aneurysms. In 1962, he became the first to use an artificial heart pump to bypass the main chamber of the heart and allow it to heal itself.

The two doctors collaborated in 1962 in developing a heart-lung machine that helped revolutionize open heart surgery.

"DeBakey is an honorable man and so is Dr. Cooley. They are not cheating the government," said a congressional investigator, who is familiar with both cases.

DeBakey said he couldn't verify that all the payments went into the Baylor fund because the surgery was performed at a number of different hospitals. However, he said the money was meant to go there, and his staff is checking now to make sure it did.

Cooley was in surgery Monday, and couldn't be reached for comment.

Demmel to Run In Kingston

KINGSTON Thomas Demmel announced recently that he is a candidate for the Town of Kingston Republican Supervisor post against incumbent GOP Supervisor Donald Patton.

In announcing his candidacy, Demmel stated that more can be accomplished in the area of highway improvements, recreation facilities and programs, protective ordinances for property owners and cultivating resident interest and participation in town functions.

Demmel added that these goals can be achieved without increasing taxes, with sound leadership and proper planning.

Demmel's candidacy brings to two the number of positions that will be contested by Town of Kingston Republicans at the party caucus scheduled for Saturday, August 16 at 8 p. m. in the Sawkill Fire House.

The other contested post is the Justice of the Peace position, where Richard Alberstadt and J. Dee Miller are seeking the post currently held by Maurice V. Reedy.

Adams Succeeds Gilday as Chairman

A Change of Draft for Kingston

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

On July 16, 1952 Andrew Gilday was sworn in as a member of Kingston Draft Board No. 18. On July 16, 1969 he ended 17 years on the board, the last six as chairman.

His assessment of those years? "We tried to be fair and impartial, treating each case as an individual. We weren't an ogre reaching out for the young manhood of the community. All things being equal, we tried to keep them out."

Gilday was interviewed with Frank Adams, the member of the board who will succeed him as chairman. Adams has been on the board for eight years and six years ago was the man who nominated Gilday for the chairmanship.

Concentrated Effort

However, both men emphasize that it is not a one-man board ruled by the chairman. "It's been a concentrated effort by all the members," Gilday said.

Those members now include Harry Kaprelian, Edwin Bahl, Dr. C. J. Goffredi, a Fair Street dentist and Adams. Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan has recommended Hydract S. Armstrong of 49 Gage Street to fill the vacancy on the board created by Gilday's retirement.

The board reviews some 600 new registrants a year, and according to Gilday and Adams, most are routine. A youth must "sign up" for the draft within 10 days after his 18th birthday. In Kingston this is done at the Selective Service offices at 55 Albany Avenue.

"The staff there is well qualified and experienced in these matters," Gilday says. "The questionnaire they fill out is quite extensive and we usually have enough information to immediately classify a registrant."

Some don't fall into classification slots that easily. "The toughest ones are the hardship cases," Gilday said. "Eventually it comes down to a matter of judgment by the board."

Gilday said the board "leans toward" the hardship applicants. "We're here to help them if they've got a legitimate hardship case. If they can prove it, we're happy to give them a deferment."

An applicant can protest his classification within 30 days after notice. "We've never denied an applicant the right to appear in person before the board and argue his case," Gilday said.

If an applicant does not agree with the local board's ruling on his case he can go to higher authority: the regional board in Yonkers. In the event of a split vote by the regional board the applicant can take his case as high as the President of the United States.

Few Penalty Problems

There can be severe penalties for attempting to avoid the draft, up to five years in prison or a $10,000 fine or both. Gilday said the local board, during his term, encountered few problems in that area. "Some of the boys may register late, say two or three months after their 18th birthdays but is usually a case of they didn't know they had to register or they just forgot. We're usually pretty lenient with them."

Both Chairman Adams and retiring chairman Gilday are well aware of criticism of the draft system as it now stands and have closely studied proposed reforms, as have other members of the local board.

Gilday said he feels that there are "definite anti-Americanism feelings in many parts of the world." "There are ap-parent inequities that may or may not exist," he said, by the Democratic and Conservative parties to run for the world remain as they are county legislator from the City we can't afford not to have some sort of system to provide adequate manpower for our armed forces."

Gilday, in looking back over

17 years of service, said he feels, for one thing, that 17 years is too long a period of time for any one man to serve on the board. "Ten years is too long," he said. "I'd like to see terms of maybe three or four years. More people should be given the opportunity to serve on the board. It would give the board a more current look and allow for greater representation of the community."

Adams pointed out that steps have been taken to limit the tenure of members of the board. Previously they served for life. The limit is now 25 years or the age of 75, whichever comes first.

Gilday has beaten both deadlines but, hopefully, his retirement won't be an idle one. He was "drafted" himself in March by the Democratic and Conservative parties to run for the world remain as they are county legislator from the City we can't afford not to have some sort of system to provide adequate manpower for our armed forces."

His years on the draft board are behind him but certainly not forgotten. "It was a privilege to serve."

Summer Cleanup: A Must for School District

By SHANE CROSBY

KINGSTON

Summer to students is a time for vacations, but to their schools it is a time to catch up. As the students leave the schools of Ulster County in June, workers move in to clean, repaint, and restore buildings and equipment used in the past year.

School districts around the country report that extra help is being used in some cases to augment the year-round work force to clean classrooms, surface gym floors and replace equipment throughout the districts.

Special

Most of the work is well underway and nearing completion as the summer begins to turn to the opening of school in September. But, in many cases, crews are expected to still be on the job of cleaning up classrooms, gyms and auditoriums almost to the day that classes commence.

Adds Problems

Vandalism adds problems during the summer months with several cases of break-ins (two in less than 48 hours at the Blue Mountain School) and rock-throwing incidents against windows. One official of the Kingston City Schools recently reported that rocks were causing extensive damage to classroom windows and warned parents that they could be held financially responsible for their child's vandalism.

Kingston City Schools Maintenance Supervisor John Rice and his men armed themselves with electric sanders in the Kate Walton Field House to

Seeks Special Police Force On State Campus

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — State Sen. John Hughes, R-Syracuse, has suggested a special police force to patrol campuses of the State University of New York.

Hughes, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Crime, said he may bring his proposal to the governor and legislature.

The senator said drug use at campuses is on the increase and stiff action should be taken by the legislature.

"The drug situation is worse than it was before and school officials don't seem to be able to control it," Hughes said.

He said past hearings of his committee have shown drug use is "deep seated" and not confined to any one campus.

Hughes said that something "drastic" may have to be done to combat the problem. Over a year ago, he said, a report was given to University Chancellor Samuel Gould on the problem.

Gould's reply, Hughes said, "didn't add much to the situation."

Crash Claims Two

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Claire Kelley, 6, of Eaton Town, N.J., died Monday following an automobile accident near here which killed her aunt, Mrs. Linda Kelley, 30, of Ballston Spa.

Police said the car, driven by Mrs. Kelley, skidded off rain-slick Route 50 and struck a tree. Mrs. Kelley's two daughters, Laurie, 6, and Molly, 8, and another niece Colleen, 8, were in satisfactory condition at Ellis Hospital late Monday.

Centennial Event

Mohonk—Conservation Talks

NEW PALTZ — The Mohonk Trust has completed a four-day program called One Hundred Years of Conservation as a part of the Centennial activities taking place at Lake Mohonk this season.

Principal speaker for this event was Dr. Paul B. Sears, emeritus professor of Conservation at Yale University and author of the well-known book "Deserts of the March," a classic in the field of present day land use problems. Dr. Sears gave a series of three talks on the past, present and future of conservation in the United States, and inspired his audiences with his view of man's need for more consideration for his environment.

During the program there were outdoor tours and walks, including an inspection of Mohonk lands which have already been acquired by the Mohonk Trust, a tax-exempt trust which aims to keep these areas as open space for public benefit in nature education, recreation, research and inspiration.

To those attending the conservation programs, trustees of the Mohonk Trust explained plans for further acquisition of this area of the state. He is currently active in the program trust announced the appointment of two new trustees. One is Hal Flanders of Florham Park, N.J., who is in management with Western Electric Co. and who is very active in conservation, including the New Jersey and the National Audubon Societies. Flanders is well acquainted with the Shawangunk Mountain area as a nature leader.

The other new trustee is Dr. Carl George, associate professor of biology at Union College, Schenectady. Dr. George has had extensive training in the biological sciences and is especially interested in the ecology of this area of the state. He is currently active in the program trust announced the appointment of two new trustees. One

Ellenville 'Art in Square' Show Aug. 23

ELLENVILLE — John Calhoun of Napanoch, who claims that his best abstract paintings have been inspired by flying, will be among the featured artists participating in Ellenville's "Art in the Square" Art Show Aug. 23.

Although the native of Toledo, Ohio, who flies his twin engine craft for "fun and relaxation," says that his best paintings "come from the sky," his subjects cover a wide range of topics and media.

Calhoun's portfolio includes pen and ink sketches, watercolor landscapes, advertising designs, charcoal portraits and numerous designing projects.

A graduate of State University at New Paltz, Calhoun has displayed his works throughout New York State, Pennsylvania and Ohio since 1963. At present, a number of his works are on display at a new gallery in Monroe.

Calhoun emphasizes freedom as the most important ingredient for successful painting. "A painting which is successful," said Calhoun, "is probably one which I painted when I felt free." The freedom that Calhoun requires is epitomized by his new studio in Oak Ridge, near Ellenville. The one-story house is being converted into a

Kiesinger Slates Talks With Nixon

BONN (UPI)—West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger flew to the United States today for talks with President Nixon. At the top of agenda was the Soviet missile threat to Western Europe.

Bonn government sources said Kiesinger would seek Nixon's views on forthcoming strategic arms limitation talks with the Soviets when he visits the President Thursday and Friday at the White House.

Kiesinger was also anxious to learn whether Nixon's weekend visit to Romania improved Western chances for broader European unity talks with the Communist bloc.

The sources said Kiesinger would urge Nixon to make sure the first stage of any agreed arms limitation talks with Moscow includes medium-range Soviet missiles aimed at Western European targets—even though the United States has no corresponding missiles in Europe.

Kiesinger will also restate his conviction the United States must participate from the start in any European security conference and guarantee any arrangement that might result, the sources said.

The chancellor was addressing the Council of Foreign Relations tonight in New York and meeting U.N. Secretary General Thant Wednesday morning.

Also sought by Kiesinger will be Nixon's assessment of pressure by some congressmen to match troop withdrawals from Vietnam with reductions of the American armed forces in Europe, the sources said.

Kiesinger thinks it would be dangerous to reduce American forces in Europe on the eve of arms limitation and reduction talks with the Soviet Union, according to the sources.

Body Recovered

ROUSES POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Divers Monday recovered the body of Jeffrey D. Cuggy, 15, of Montreal from northern Lake Champlain.

The boy drowned Friday after he jumped from a sailboat for a swim, police said, and panicked. A companion on the sailboat was unable to rescue him.

Police said the body was found in 20 feet of water near where Cuggy vanished a mile south of this Clinton County community on the Canadian-US border.

MRS. MARTIN E. ZIMMERMAN (Gallo photo)

Minadeo - Zimmerman

St. Joseph's Church at New Paltz was the setting for the wedding of Miss Francine Minadeo of New Paltz and Martin E. Zimmerman of Clintondale on Sunday, July 27. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Minadeo, New Paltz, and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Zimmerman of Station Road, Clintondale.

The Rev. Joseph Hickey celebrated the Nuptial Mass and officiated at the ceremony. Altar boys were Thomas Roach and Joseph Owens.

The bride selected a silk worsted gown fashioned with a bateau neckline and accented with a yoke of Venice lace. The skimmer lines of the floor length princess cut dress was framed at the bottom with the same lace. The gown featured a detachable bishop's train, also framed with a wide border of lace. A crown of aurora borealis held her French illusion, hand-rolled, elbow-length veil. She carried three long stemmed roses.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Denise Minadeo. Other attendants included Mrs. Linda Olson; Miss Carolyn Jensen; Miss Charlene Simpson; Miss Ann Minadeo, sister of the bride; Miss Donna Minadeo, and Miss Lori Pasante, both cousins of the bride. The flower girl was Mary Beth Roach.

The maid of honor wore a floor length princess skimmer of pink karate, accented at the sides with a white insert, and flat white bows at the shoulders. Her headpiece of the same fabric was styled with double bows of white with pink roses, caught with a butterfly face veil.

The attendants' gowns were identical in styling to that of the honor attendant in white karate accented with pink inserts. The flower girl wore a short version of the attendants' gowns. Each attendant carried one long stemmed American beauty rose, and the flower girl carried a basket of red roses.

Thomas Vankleeck of New Paltz was best man. Ushers were Fred Woolsey, Milton, cousin of the bridegroom; Louis Olson, New Paltz; Richard Passante, Daniel Passante, and Edward Crosby, all cousins of the bride; and Greg Whitton, Clintondale. Patrick Russo, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

A cocktail party and wedding dinner was held at Meadowbrook Lodge, Newburgh.

The couple boarded the Santa Rosa for a two week cruise of the Caribbean and South America.

The bride is a student at State University College at New Paltz where she is majoring in Elementary Education. Her husband attended State University of New York at Farmingdale, and is associated with his father in the fruit growing business.

Garden Party Set For Ellenville Hospital Auxiliary

Ellenville Community Hospital Auxiliaries will be feted on Wednesday, Aug. 20, at a rain-or-shine garden party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Resnick, Diane Drive, Ellenville. Hours set for the event are from 1 to 4 p.m.

"The Resnicks have graciously offered to open their lovely and unusual Japanese gardens to hospital auxiliaries," announced Auxiliary president, Mrs. Bernard Wenig, "as a token of their continued interest in the hospital and the auxiliary. Mrs. Resnick has been active in the auxiliary since its inception and has worked in many capacities in addition to her duties as treasurer."

According to Mrs. Irving Feinberg, membership chairman, "Ellenville can boast of one of the largest auxiliary memberships in the area — and a goodly number of workers. We understand, of course, that not everyone can give time to the hospital but everyone can be a member of the auxiliary."

"The garden party, for which no admission will be charged, is not a fund raising affair. It is simply a way of saying 'Thank You' to all auxiliaries active or inactive, who by their membership support the hospital," stated Mrs. Feinberg.

"It will be a purely social afternoon gathering, in beautiful surroundings. Auxiliaries who have not seen the interesting Japanese gardens will find them fascinating. I hope that all auxiliaries will make an effort to join us if only for a few minutes."

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I was having trouble with the bumper in my baby's crib, as it was easily kicked out of the way and little legs got caught in the bars.

I bought one and a half yards of nylon fishnet (used so widely for swimsuit cover-ups) and folded it in half lengthwise to make it less stretchy. I then bound it on all four sides with bias tape, and put ties on the corners to fasten it to the bars on the inside of baby's crib.

This has been great for keeping tiny toes and toys in the crib where they belong.

It allows free circulation of air and can easily be removed for washing.

Valerie B. Fox

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

I often take care of my little granddaughter and read to her (including your column).

The other day, after I had read your hints, she said, "Grandma, why don't people get some nylon net of their own and not use Heloise's all the time?"

I had a real good laugh and thought you might too.

Mrs. E. J. Conklin

Dear Heloise: Sometimes when I buy a baking chicken the skin is torn on the breast. But I've found a way to remedy this.

I take the skin from the neck, cut it in two and pin it with toothpicks over the torn area on the breast.

The results have always been soft, tender meat that has retained its moisture.

Gourmet Cooking: Riviera Quiche

Vive la France! The Riviera Quiche has a luscious golden color, a rich aroma, and a light texture only natural from the country that made eating an art. And it's delicious with a difference: Bordo imported dates give it an accent all its own!

For homemaker "chefs" who like gourmet results without all day preparation, the Riviera Quiche is a special boon. It can be quickly prepared, or made ahead and frozen until mealtime. Once baked, it can be served as a tasty appetizer or an exciting entree. As an appetizer, cut the quiche into narrow wedges or bite-sized cubes. As the entree at a light or late supper, serve Riviera Quiche with crisp mixed green salad vinaigrette and a sparkling glass of your favorite red or rose wine.

For variety—and a four-star Michelin touch to your next luncheon—make quiches in individual tart or muffin sized pastry shells. Crisp French-cut green beans, flaky croissant rolls, and a mousse or custard dessert are the perfect accompaniments.

Frozen pastry shells can be used for Riviera Quiche. If you prefer to make your own, you'll need:

½ cup butter
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup sifted flour
¼ pound small curd creamed cottage cheese

Cut flour and salt into butter until mixture resembles coarse meal. Mix in creamed cottage cheese and form a dough. Roll on a well floured board and fit into a 9-inch pan.

For the Riviera Quiche filling, ingredients are:

1 cup diced chicken (or ham)
1 medium sized green pepper, seeded and diced
6 tablespoons butter
1 8-oz. package Bordo imported diced dates, or Bordo whole dates, cut up
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups evaporated milk (or Half 'n' Half)
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 cup shredded Swiss cheese

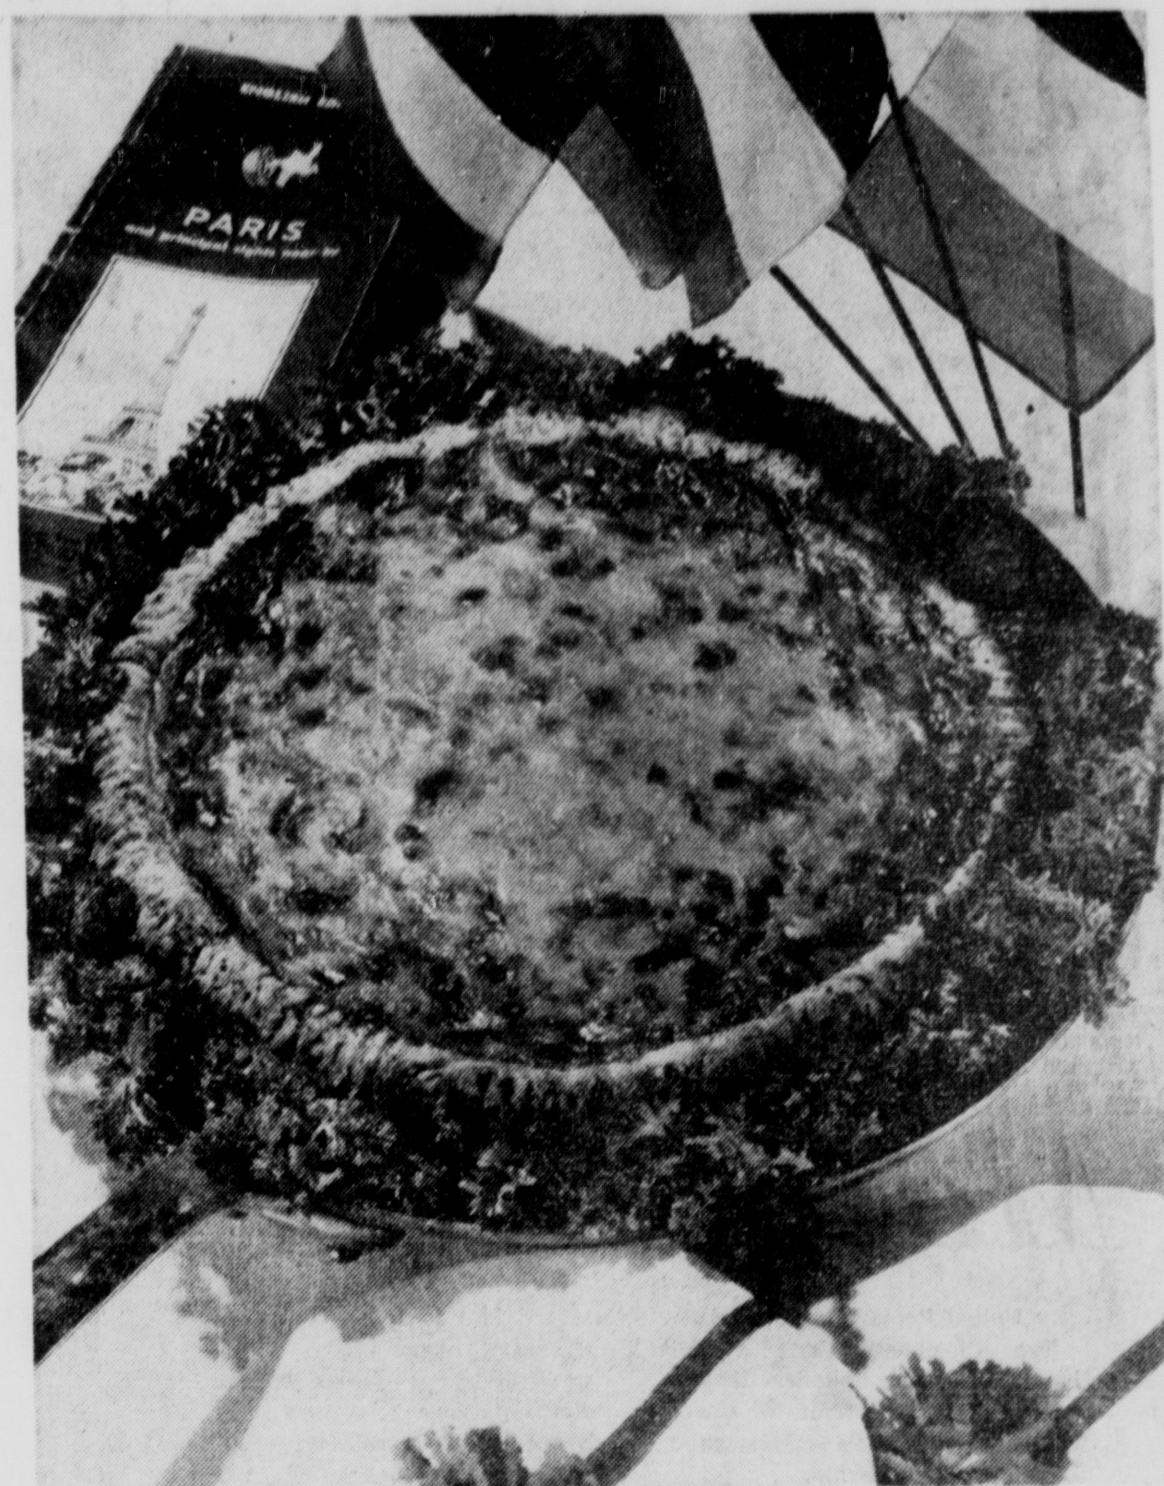

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Sauté chicken (or ham) and green pepper in butter until lightly browned. Add Bordo imported dates and sauté 1 minute more. Blend in salt and pepper. Remove from heat.

Mix milk and cheeses together. Add to chicken-date mixture and mix well.

Pour into unbaked pastry shell. Bake 20-25 minutes or until set (a knife inserted in the center should come out clean). Remove from oven and let stand 10-15 minutes before cutting.

For individual quiches, bake 15 minutes and let stand 10-15 minutes before serving.

To prepare ahead: Bake as directed and freeze. To serve, preheat oven to 300 degrees and bake quiche 20-25 minutes or until heated through.

RIVIERA QUICHE — You don't have to go to France to enjoy gourmet cooking! Bordo's Riviera Quiche is every "chef's" ideal: Simple to prepare, delightful to look at, and delicious to eat!

Zippy Backyard Burgers for Summer

ZIPPY MEXICAN BURGERS — Outdoor summer celebrations are a perfect time for Zippy Mexican Burgers. Juicy and mouth-watering good with oats in the hamburger, these summer sandwiches go great with outdoor summer fun.

Summer's here and it's time for outdoor fun. A picnic supper in the backyard is the ideal outdoor summer celebration. Zippy Mexican Burgers will make picnic suppers at your house popular with family and friends.

Mouth-watering and spicy, Zippy Mexican Burgers are full of meaty goodness. Rolled oats in the ground beef patties keep in real meat flavor and juicy goodness while they give these super summer burgers south-of-the-border flair. Cheese, avocado and tomato layers add tantalizing zest to Zippy Mexican Burgers. And to "sandwich" Zippy Mexican Burgers, use Vienna bread slices spread with Zippy Spread — a quick combination of mayonnaise, tomato sauce, chili powder and red pepper seasoning.

Zippy Mexican Burgers go great with outdoor summer menus. Serve with corn on the cob, relishes, warm blueberry pie and lemonade for true summer outdoor spirit.

Mexican Burgers

Makes 6 servings

HAMBURGERS:

1 tablespoon instant minced onion
½ cup tomato sauce
1½ lb. ground beef
¾ cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon garlic salt
4 drops liquid red pepper seasoning
1 egg
6 American cheese slices

ZIPPY SPREAD:

12 Vienna bread slices
Shredded lettuce
1 large avocado, cut into 6 slices
6 tomato slices
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon tomato sauce
¼ teaspoon chili powder
3 drops liquid red pepper seasoning

For zippy spread, combine mayonnaise, tomato sauce, chili powder and liquid red pepper seasoning. Refrigerate until ready to use.

For hamburgers, combine minced onion and tomato sauce; set aside. Thoroughly combine ground beef, oats, chili powder, garlic salt, liquid red pepper and seasoning, egg and onion-tomato sauce mixture. Shape to form

6 patties. Grill over hot coals or broil about 5 inches from source of heat for 7 minutes. Turn, continue cooking about 5 minutes for medium doneness. Place a slice of cheese on each hamburger.

Spread bread slices with zippy spread. Place shredded lettuce on 6 of the bread slices; place cheese-topped hamburgers on lettuce. Top each with avocado, tomato and bread slice.

Garden Club Shelf

In reviewing the interest shown by the Woodstock Garden Club in the Woodstock Library, Mrs. Harry Schmidt, the Garden Club's president, reminded Club members of the Library's Woodstock Garden Club Shelf and the outstanding new titles now available.

Miss Priscilla Evraets, chairman librarian of the Garden Club gave details concerning the club's activity along these lines. The Joy of Geraniums by Helen Van Pelt Wilson and Herb Gardening in Five Seasons by Adeline Grenier Simmon were bought by the club with money given by Roman Yard in honor of the late Miss Florence Hubbard. Table Decorations Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow by Georfiana R. Smith was bought with money donated by the Garden Club. These three books were ordered by Mrs. Roberts, librarian of the Woodstock Library, for the Garden Club Shelf and paid for by the Garden Club.

In addition, The World of Roses in Color by Horace MacFarland was donated by Mrs. George Janicula; Amaryllis by Peggy Schultz was donated by Mrs. Lamont Marvin; America's Gardens, a house and garden book, was donated by Mrs. Henry Rade; An Eighteenth Century Garland by Louise B. Fisher, donated by Mrs. Craig R. Vosburgh, is about flower and fruit arrangement of Colonial Williamsburg. These four books were also placed on the Garden Club Shelf.

Mrs. E. T. Vickers, chairman of the Garden Club's booth at the Woodstock Library Fair, and Mrs. Alfred Parke co-chairmen, announced that their booth was a financial success.

Supper, Auction

THE PAYOFF — Pete Rose begins his head first slide towards the plate in the third inning of last night's game with the New York Mets, scoring from third on Alex Johnson's sacrifice fly to right field. This proved to be the only run the Reds got as they took the 1-0 game behind the two-hit pitching of Jim Maloney. Catcher Jerry Grote "decoys" Rose that he has the ball. Rose was walked by Pitcher Jerry Koosman. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Maloney Nips Mets

(By United Press International)

The Cincinnati Reds may have found the pitcher they need to carry them to the National League's Western Division championship.

Jim Maloney has been with the Reds all season, of course, but until Monday night his contribution consisted of a 4-2 record and three complete games. But he was the overpowering fireballer of his best seasons as he allowed two hits in 8 2/3 innings to give the Reds a 1-0 victory over the New York Mets.

The win enabled the Reds to go a half-game ahead of the idle San Francisco Giants and one game ahead of the Atlanta Braves, who lost 7-1 to the Montreal Expos. Of more importance, however, is the knowledge that a physically-able Maloney could be just the pitcher the Reds need in the stretch run.

"The ball was really shooting up to the plate in the first four innings," said catcher Johnny Bench. "He was throwing 'Jim Maloney hard' in the early innings and getting the hitters to beat the ball into the dirt."

Maloney, who struck out three and walked three, said his shoulder stiffened somewhat in the sixth inning and Manager Dave Bristol cautiously removed him in favor of Wayne Granger after Cleon Jones walked with two out in the ninth. Granger retired Ed Kranepool on a routine grounder to end the game and receive credit for this 15th save in his 57th relief appearance.

The Reds scored the only run of the game off Jerry Koosman in the third inning when Pete Rose walked, went to third on Bobby Tolan's single and tallied on Alex Johnson's sacrifice fly.

Jerry Robertson pitched an eight-hitter and Rusty Staub hit his 18th homer of the season for the Expos, who dealt the Braves their fifth straight loss. Staub hit his two-run homer in the first inning and Mack Jones doubled home two in the third to make it easy for Robertson to win his third game. Orlando Cepeda hit the 300th homer of his career in the ninth for the Braves.

The Chicago Cubs defeated the Houston Astros 9-3 and the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 in the only other National League games.

Randy Hundley drove in three runs with a double in the third inning and a fourth with a sacrifice fly in the eighth to help Ferguson Jenkins to his 15th victory for the Cubs. Jenkins pitched a four-hitter, walked one and struck out 12 as the Cubs handed Houston's Tom Griffin his fifth setback.

Julian Javier hit his ninth homer of the season with two out in the ninth giving the Cardinals their victory over the Dodgers. Nelson Briles pitched a seven-hitter, raising his record to 11-9, while reliever Jim Brewer suffered the loss. Maury Wills tripled and scored the Dodgers' run in the third inning and Tim McCarver homered in the seventh for the Cardinals' first run.

Steve Hargan allowed four hits and struck out six to win his fourth game against eight losses for the Indians. Rookie Frank Baker hit his first major league homer and Ken Harrelson hit his 21st of the season for the Indians, who dealt 11-game winner Tommy Phoebus his fourth defeat. Boog Powell had two of the Orioles' four hits.

Rick Renick doubled in two runs and Tom Tschinski hit a two-run single as the Twins bombed Detroit's Mike Killebrew for five runs in the first inning. Harmon Killebrew also singled home a run for the Twins, raising his season RBI total to 101. Bob Miller went 7-13 in his fourth win with Ron Perranoski picking up his 21st save for 1-2-3 innings of hitless relief.

Amateurs Have Six Wins

Woodstock Open Never Easy For Professional Golfers

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

WOODSTOCK — Next to the sectional championships, the Woodstock Open is the most prestigious tournament on the Northeastern New York PGA's annual calendar. But it has never been the exclusive property of the club pros.

A check of the records since 1947 indicates that no less than six amateurs — two from the Kingston area — have won the 27-hole medal tournament which has its 23rd renewal in the post-war period August 15 at the picturesque Woodstock links.

"The amateurs have been getting tough in recent years," says host pro Jim Hutchins. He points out that three simon pures have led the tournament since 1960 when Bill Van Aken, then playing out of Woodstock, took first place in a sudden death playoff with Bill Waterous and Ray Billows, of Poughkeepsie, a seven-time New York State Amateur champion.

"We have been attracting a quality field of amateurs in the past few years," Hutchins added, and we're doing everything to attract the top players in the Hudson valley area."

Lyons Is Defender

The defending champion is Toby Lyons, the small, muscular Burning Tree, Conn. pro who put together a 6-under-par 99 with nines of 32, 33, 34 in 1968; Lyons, one of the best known professionals in the business, played the pro tour for several years.

In 1966, Lyons missed equalling the tournament record by one stroke when he carded 33-31-34-98, one shy of the all-time low of 97 posted by Jim Farina in 1947.

Sig Makofski, the well known Mont Pleasant (Schenectady) athletic director, was the first amateur champion with a 99 in 1950, the amateur record that was tied by Denny Lyons, Toby's son, in 1967.

Clint Traver of Columbia Country Club placed first with 103 in 1954 and four years later, Bill Seelye of Catskill, a reformed pro hit it with 101.

McCloskey Top Rec Performer

KINGSTON — Michelle McCloskey, Hasbrouck Park, took four events to emerge as the big winner in the Second Annual Age-Group Swim Meet staged at Kingston Point Beach. More than 100 entries were received by the Recreation Department and all of them participated in the meet.

Hundreds of people lined the area to watch the young swimmers compete for the top prizes in each age group.

Michelle, named the 1969 Champion for the girl's age group 11-14, had only entered in the four events that she won. Winning in convincing fashion, the young star took the 25-yard and 50-yard freestyle events as well as the Girl's Open Championship at each of two distances, 25 and 50 yards.

There were three other double winners in the meet. They were Robert Norris, 11-14, 25 and 50-yard freestyle, Mike Alexander, 5-10, 25 and 50-yard freestyle and Steve Naccarato taking the Boy's Open in both freestyle events.

On the girl's side, Kathy Turk took 25-yard freestyle for 5-10-year-olds, while Susan Yochmann won the 50-yard freestyle in that age group.

All of the champions, plus some of the second and third place finishers will make up the Kingston Recreation Department team entry in a match with the team from Athens this Friday, Aug. 8.

Ron Gabriele was the meet director.

Sickler Scores 833 High Series

KINGSTON — Don Sickler Jr. rolled a four game series of 833 to pace the Three Man Classic League. Bob Smith was second with 828, while Larry Petersen hit 801.

Team results were: Petersen's 3, Sickler's 5, Smith's 11, First Albany Corporation 1, J. Spada's 7, McDonalds 5, H. Petersen 7, Bert Bishop Inc. 5.

After Van Aken's sudden death over Waterous and Billows in 1960 there was a five-year lapse until William (Buzzy) Costello of Wiltwyck led the field with 102.

Mahood 1967 Winner

Ron Mahood, the flashy Westchester Amateur champion, survived a rain-soaked playoff against veteran pro Ian (Scotty) Robertson of Wiltwyck and amateur Mark Farina of Schenectady for the 1967 victory.

Invitations have been extended to Heinz Mews of Dutchess, who defeated Harvey Bostic in the Wiltwyck invitational finals and Ricky Spears of Port Jervis, one of the state's top amateurs.

Other area simon pures, including Wiltwyck's Leon Randall, Dave Blakely and Van Aken, of course, also pose threats to the pros.

Hutchins said the cutoff for amateurs is 18 years. "There are several fine young amateurs under 18 who could make a creditable showing," Hutchins explained. "But as a matter of policy, the minimum age is 18."

Bostic has two amateur first to his credit in the Woodstock Classic. He led the non-professionals with 2-under-par 103 last year and back in 1963 survived a three-way playoff with Bill Waterous of Woodstock and Wally Kubica of Pittsfield for top amateur prize.

A new format is in effect for this year's tournament. Hutchins noted.

"We've scaled the field to a maximum 72 players," he explained. "We anticipate an entry of about 32 pros and 40 amateurs. This year the visiting pros will be permitted to bring only one amateur instead of two as in previous years."

New Amateur Rule

The open committee also has instituted a new rule with respect to the amateurs. "Amateurs who fail to break 80 in the first 18 holes will not be eligible to compete in the last nine holes," Hutchins said. "This should not only relieve traffic in the third round but also insure a better overall scoring."

Lyons, the iron master from Connecticut will be the odds on favorite... the man to beat. On a course like Woodstock where all the action is from 100 yards in, Lyons is an incomparable performer. He has a brilliant short game and superb putting touch.

"Lyons is playing our course like Armand Farina did in his heyday," Hutchins noted. "His game is beautifully tailored for the layout just like Farina's."

Farina, incidentally, won the Woodstock Open five times and had several seconds, but has not been in the winner's circle since 1958.

AFL Defense Improves

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP)—American Football League defenses, much maligned by outsiders since the league's berth but accorded due credit since the New York Jets' Super Bowl victory this year, have been getting better and better, one of the league's most veteran defensive backs says.

Johnny Robinson 10-year AFL veteran safety from Louisiana State who is the last member of the Kansas City Chiefs to start with the Dallas Texans in 1960, also suggests the AFL defenses now are on a par with the National Football League.

"In the last couple of years, the AFL defensive backs haven't had to take a back seat to any one in the caliber of talent," Robinson said at the Chiefs' training camp here.

"In my opinion, the biggest improvement, however, we had was in our defensive lines. It is so hard to find good defensive linemen. There is so much correlation between the pass rush and the pass coverage that you must have good linemen."

"I think we'd have to say," the articulate Robinson said, "that the defenses were weaker than the offenses in the early years."

"I think probably after the third or fourth year, the coaches realized they had to have top-flight talent to play professional defenses. Then, I think they started finding the boys who could play it and drafting them. Before, they drafted offensive stars and if they couldn't make it on offense, they put them on defense."

"Once they began acquiring the defensive players, it took several years for them to learn to play the pro-type defense, so over-all it was perhaps a 6 or 7-year process of building up."

"One thing I think influenced it was the clubs got so much stronger offensively. At one time a club would have only one good pass receiver. Then they got 3 or 4 and you had to cover them all. This forced the defenses to get tougher."

Robinson, now 31, believes the NFL got ahead of the AFL defense.

Ron Gabriele was the meet director.

Zeels Advance To Semi-Finals

Pete and Bill Zeel of Kingston have advanced to the semi-final round of the Redwood Tennis Club doubles tournament, where they meet the No. 1 seeded team—Dave Striebel and Paul Peschel—Thursday night.

The Kingston brothers came from behind to defeat Louis Mills and Dr. William Kling 3-6, 6-3, 6-1. Neil Novesky and Don Gurta head the other semi-final bracket.

fensively because the AFL was born during a transition period when pro football clubs were coming to realize the importance of going after first-rate defensive players and not just offensive stars.

"The change was just coming in philosophy of defense when the AFL was formed," he said. "I was drafted as an offensive player, and was one of the first to be shifted to defense in our league. Others followed later."

"This year, our No. 1 draft choice was a defensive back. I think that is indicative of what has happened."

Two teams tied with best ball 65's in the Wiltwyck Country Club mixed Member-Guest tournament.

The winning teams were Robert Merritt and Mrs. L. Corrado; and Dr. Charles Kovacs-Mrs. Sufferman.

Richard Davenport and Mrs. Edwin Strohsahl placed third with 66. Mrs. Daisy Distel and Herb Mulrby carded 68.

Locked in a three-way tie at best ball 69 were the tandems of Mrs. Robert Merritt-L. Corrado; Samuel Levine-Mrs. Arnold Pinsly; and Mrs. Paul Schwartz Dr. Sufferman.

Who's Telling Lies?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Namath doesn't lie, says Joe Namath.

The FBI says Joe Namath doesn't tell the truth. Joe Namath says the FBI had agents visit him before the Super Bowl game.

The FBI says its agents did not visit him.

Joe Namath says all this in his book.

The FBI said all this Monday.

Joe Namath wrote: "The very first morning in Fort Lauderdale where the Jets trained for the Super Bowl clash with the Baltimore Colts I had a couple of visitors... they were from the Federal Bureau of Investigation... the least the FBI could have done was send the agents who'd been tailing me during the season."

John F. Malone, assistant director of the FBI's office here declared: "There's not one scintilla of truth to any of Namath's statements regarding... the FBI following him or investigating him."

The next installment of Joe's book will be released next month.

Red Wing Coach Still Serious

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Lorenzo "Chico" Fernandez, player-coach for the Rochester Red Wings of the International Baseball League, remained in poor condition today with a skull fracture suffered in a game Sunday night.

Officials at Rochester General Hospital said Fernandez had suffered some brain damage and underwent surgery to remove damaged bone.

On the girl's side, Kathy Turk took 25-yard freestyle for 5-10-year-olds, while Susan Yochmann won the 50-yard freestyle in that age group.

All of the champions, plus some of the second and third place finishers will make up the Kingston Recreation Department team entry in a match with the team from Athens this Friday, Aug. 8.

Foreign Entries in Tennis Meet

KINGSTON—Pete Zeeh, defending men's singles champion and Kitty Fowler, last year's winner in the women's singles division, prepare to defend their titles as the Annual Ulster County Tennis Tournament gets under way Wednesday, Aug. 6. The final will be played Aug. 23-24. While the tourney has always featured players of foreign extraction, this year's field seems to take on even more of an international flavor with six players from Africa and India who are now working and living in the Ulster County area.

Rajkumar Bajaj of India leads the international players. He is joined by countrymen Laheri, Shah and Arun Bhagwat. Also, Trilok Manocha and Azeem Timmapuri, Labius Lesibu is competition.

Other top seeds who are expected to give the Zeeh's trouble are Dick Smith, Dick Little, Dave Roberts, Marshall Lipton, Zeeh, younger brother to Pete, Bill Carr, Joe Hevesi, Steve Van Camerick, Pete Writer and Jerry Leatherman. The incomparable Kitty Fowler rates as the top seed in the women's department. If she is hard pressed to defend her crown, the competition will probably come from Ruth Goldin, Mary Fowler or Nancy Stanich.

This year's tournament chairman is Henry Sykes. Sykes said, "This is one of the finest fields that have ever competed for the top prizes. We not only have the best singles players in the area but also some very interesting combinations in the doubles and mixed events. I just hope the weather is kind to us."

First round pairings for Men's singles: Pete Zeeh-by; Raku-mar Baja vs. Milt Grover Jr.; Jerry Leatherman vs. Tom Guadagnola; Jules Vigliemio vs. Dave Benevides Dave Roberts-by; Carl Hubert vs. Dick Ihly; Ron Kline vs. Bill Cummings; Charlie Wurster vs. Tony Badalato; Dick Little-by; Labius

Women's singles: Ruth Goldin vs. Judy Sykes; Davy Nelson vs. Kay Spangenberg; Mary Fowler vs. Barbara Fite; Judy Hevesi vs. Nancy Ann Halterman; Daisy Beal vs. Linda Reese; Tish Meyers vs. Nancy Stanich; Paula Hutton vs. Bertie Meeker; Sandra Ihly vs. Kitty Fowler.

Maynard Direct Is Winner

MONTICELLO—Maynard Direct is one of two good New York Sire Stakes two-year-old pacing colts in trainer-driver Leroy Copeland's stable. But the son of Maynard Direct has taken a back seat thus far to Tar Hal, who from all indications could be the best of the lot this season.

Copeland, however, received a pleasant surprise during Monday night's second division of the Sire Stakes opener at Monticello Raceway when Maynard Direct posted a relatively easy two and one-half length triumph in 2:09.4.

"I think he's going to be all right now," Copeland admitted after the race. "We made a couple of changes on him between here and Buffalo Raceway and it looks like that's what made the difference. I figured he was number three or four behind Tar Hal in his division, but I may have to change my thinking after tonight."

Copeland took Maynard Direct to the top from the number two slot and held on through quarters of 32 seconds flat, 1:04.1, and 1:37.3 over the wet track.

"He's a little on the lazy side and I didn't want to race him on the front," Copeland explained, "but I didn't have much choice."

The changes that were made involved taking up the hoppers a bit, a change of shoeing and elimination of a tongue tie. "He was slipping and sliding a lot up at Buffalo and made a break behind the gate," Copeland said. "He also had a break on me at Yonkers. He just came to a halt 100 feet from the wire with the race just about won. I think he's relaxed a little more now."

Bill Haughton drove Limas Lucky Lad to a 2:07.4 victory in the first division of the Sire Stakes pace for juvenile colts and geldings, coming from behind to beat Mr. Ace by a length and one-half.

General Dayan, the local favorite, finished a poor fifth after leading through the first quarter.

Haughton ran into a bit of bad luck in the second division when 6-5 favorite Aurelia Boy went into a break approaching the three-quarter pole.

Tar Hal, a three-time winner in seven starts for owner Abraham Schultz of Bal Harbour, Fla., who also owns Maynard Direct, went from the six hole in the third division. "I just don't know how he'll do on the wet track," Copeland said before the race.

All three divisions were raced for $7,973, with eight horses starting in each.

Copeland made it a double for himself and owner Abraham Schultz of Bal Harbour, Fla., taking the third division—each was worth $7,973—with 1-2 favorite Tar Hal in 2:06 flat, fastest of the three divisions.

"He's got a lot more speed than Maynard Direct, no question about it," Leroy said before the ninth race. "But I just don't know how he'll go over the wet track." Evidently, it didn't bother the son of Tar Boy too much.

Spa Triple For Cordero

By United Press International—Angel Cordero Jr. demonstrated his championship riding style Monday by booting home a triple at Saratoga.

Cordero, the national riding champion in 1968, was in top form Monday as he scored with Variare in the first race and Venetian Garden in the second to complete a $56,000 daily double payoff. Cordero then thrilled the crowd of 14,311 by bringing home Buckland Bird in at $56.80 mutual in the sixth race.

In the $25,000 feature race, George D. Widener's Pontifex raced to a two-length victory over Foggy Road. High Echelon finished third, four lengths behind Foggy Road. Pontifex paid $3.80 to win in a race where place and show wagers were barred because of the three horse field.

At Monmouth, Lady Ebony ($43.40) won the $10,000 allowance feature while Mr. Corso ($6.40) captured the $7,000 allowance race at Arlington.

The $7,000 feature at Liberty Bell went to Flaps Down ($11.80) while at Delaware, Ringmaster ($6.00) won the allowance race.

Beard's Take Is $155,187

NEW YORK (UPI)—Frank Beard's victory in the $250,000 Westchester Golf Classic gave the Dallas, Tex., pro the lead in the weekly PGA money-winner's list released Monday.

Beard, who took home the richest first prize of the year—$50,000—has won $125,455 since May 1 while winning the Westchester and Minnesota Classics and gaining two second places. In 11 tournaments since then, he has finished out of the top eight only three times.

Beard has earned more than $100,000 the past three years on the tour, and now has $155,187 this year.

The list: 1. Frank Beard $155,187; 2. Dave Hill 130,968; 3. Gene Littler 110,498; 4. Lee Trevino 97,321; 5. Gary Player 92,283; 6. Tommy Aaron 85,358; 7. Bruce Crampton 85,911; 8. Billy Casper 84,345; 9. Dale Douglas 82,537; 10. Dan Sikes 80,148.

Nationals Cop Pee Wee Stars

KINGSTON—National All Stars scored two runs in the fourth inning to nip Americans, 2 to 1, in the annual CYO Pee Wee League All Star game.

Randy Perry, one of the three National pitchers, was credited with the victory. Nick Longendyke, who pitched and played right field, and Kevin Steigerwald shared the four National hits. Steigerwald rapped a double and triple. Tom Caruso, who was charged with the loss, collected two of the six hits by the American stars.

Wolfson Plans To Sell Stable

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Thoroughbred yearlings and broodmares from the Florida horse stables of financier Louis E. Wolfson go on sale next week at Saratoga Springs.

Wolfson, sentenced to 18 months in a federal prison last December for attempting to deceive government investigators in a stock deal probe, plans to sell all 82 of his yearling Thoroughbreds and 23 broodmares, including five or six by Raise a native, sire of Majestic Prince.

John M. S. Pinney, whose Fasig-Tipton Co. is handling the auction sale, said the dispersal sale is expected to gross nearly $1 million.

Pinney said Wolfson at one time had up to 200 broodmares on his Harbor View Farm and now is selling his Thoroughbred stock.

The Wolfson sale is said one of the largest dispersal sales in recent years at the upstate New York racing center.

Ryder and Sullivan Qualify for Jaycee

WOODSTOCK—John Ryder and Mark Sullivan have been designated Woodstock Jaycees representatives to the New York State Jaycees swim meet at Chittenango next Saturday.

Ryder captured three firsts in the qualifying events at Woodstock, winning the back stroke, breast stroke and free style events in the 15-17 age bracket. Sullivan had a first in the boys 9-12 freestyle.

About 50 youngsters participated in the trials despite threatening weather at the Swim O'Links pool in Bearsville. The results:

Back Stroke
Girls 9-12: Elizabeth McGuire, Valerie Pustarfi, Kathy Depres;
Boys 9-12: John Sullivan, Christopher Davenport, Dwight Davenport; Boys 15-17: John Ryder, Alan Shultis.

Butterfly
Girls 9-12: Anne Stedje, Mollie Klinger, Donna Zumba; Boys 9-12: Chris Davenport, Bill Sullivan, Mark Klinger; Boys 13-14: Steve Vincent, Danny Plate.

Freestyle
Girls 9-12: Elizabeth McGuire, Tami McGrath, Mollie Klinger; Girls 13-14: Anne Maltz, Linda Chiara; Girls 15-17: Debe Sineath, Mardi Klinger.
Boys 9-12: Mark Sullivan, John Sullivan, Gary Hucker; Boys 13-14: Steve Vincent, Joel Tomashoff; Boys 15-17: John Ryder, Alan Shultis.

8 on Outing Select Wrong Site for Camp

Eight visitors to Ulster County selected a perfect day to set up camp for an outing, but they picked the wrong site posted property at the Ashokan Reservoir.

They were charged with trespassing when found Sunday afternoon at the lower Spillway by Deputy Sheriff Charles Hesley and James Freese and Calvin Bruckner, a water shed in spectator.

Appearing before Olive Town Justice Frank C. Carle, the eight pleaded guilty and each paid a $10 fine.

Deputy Hesley identified the group as Raymond Navarro, 24, of 6915 DeCosta Avenue, Arverne, Queens; Carol Bonaguro, 22, of 135 161st Street, Brooklyn; Kathleen McNally, 20, of 112 Fillmore Street, Staten Island; Joseph Briggs, 22, of 746 First Street, Brooklyn; Lynn Curchy, 18, and Vincent Curchy, 21, both of 974 45th Street, Brooklyn; Paul Ferrannini, 23, of 470 49th Street, and Denis Arena, 21, of 214 61st Street, both Brooklyn.

Garden Club Plans Mystery Luncheon Aug. 6

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock Garden Club members are reminded by Mrs. Harry Schmidt, president, that the next meeting for members only will be a mystery luncheon and tour on Aug. 6 but not at the regular place.

Those who have not already made reservations for this luncheon and tour should contact the Program Chairman Mrs. Craig Vosburgh.

The club members will meet at 11 a. m. at Woodstock A & P parking lot in order to get final travel instructions.

Building Plans Near Completion

RHINEBECK

Rhinebeck Village Mayor Peter F. Sipperley stated Monday evening that plans for the $350,000 village hall firehouse complex should be ready by the next board meeting.

The completed plans, drawn up by Architect Bruce Helmes of Katonah, Putnam County, are needed before bid specifications can be advertised.

The project is proceeding on schedule, with demolition and test borings long since completed, and Sipperley hopes that construction may be well underway this autumn. All work to date has been completed below the cost estimates.

Danger Man

(AP) — Andy Crichton claim the distinction of driving the most dangerous garbage truck in Scotland. Every week he drives four miles from the nuclear generating station at Hunterston to another station with a deadly load—fuel elements from the Hunterston reactor which have been used up but need processing because they are still radioactive.

'Love, American Style'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Not two writers, who also are executive producers, are Arnold Margolin and Jim Parker. "Some people think we're doing 'The Erotic Life of the American Housewife.' They won't let us have a casting couch," said Margolin. Each hour-long show is divided into three separate stories about people in and out of love. They run from 7 to 25 minutes, and every story, every week, "Love, American Style" and the there who will be appearing are Imogene Coca, Phyllis Diller, Richard Deacon, Flip Wilson, Ozzie and Harriet Nelson, Dorothy Lamour, Robert Cummings, Bob Crane and Garry Moore. The segments will be bridged by blackouts relating to men and women. "This is a comedy show," said Margolin. "We try to do stories which have relevance to today. We have a story about a mother and father debating about whether to slip the pill into their daughter's orange juice. A guy who finds a girl's name and number scratched on a phone booth. Two people living together but not married because they get more Social Security that way. "The funniest stories are the kind of things that happen to people. Everybody's got at least one or two stories that happened to them that they want to tell." And everybody's got a wouldn't," Parker said.

Bath Coup Sets Stage for Win

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

Unlike other bridge plays, the Bath Coup covers one specific situation. You hold ace-jack and one or more small cards in a suit. The king is lead and you let it hold. This gives you two tricks in the suit if your opponent continues it but that happy result doesn't take place often. Most of the time, your opponent will shift, whereupon the Bath Coup will merely have served to give you time to go about your business somewhere else.

East's jump to three hearts put a lot of pressure on South but he had the cards to withstand the pressure. If anything, his four-club call was an underbid. The four-club bid put pressure on North also but North decided correctly that his two kings, good trumps and singleton heart warranted a bid of game.

A heart lead would have made things easy for South but West had a natural lead of the king of spades. This set the stage for the Bath Coup.

South let the king hold and West was helpless. A spade continuation would give South two spade tricks and West stayed out of that trap.

Not that it did him any good. He did shift to the five of hearts. South took his ace, drew

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Along with marbles and mumblety-peg, hitting fun-goes has been a favorite boyhood pastime. The fun-go, which is of unknown origin, describes a game where a boy tosses a baseball into the air and then hits it to players in the field. The World Almanac says. Although hitting fun-goes is not considered good batting practice, it is great fun and a good way to give fielders practice catching fly balls and grounders.

MEETS THE PRESS — Special Presidential Advisor for Foreign Affairs Henry Kissinger (C) is greeted by newsmen as he emerges from the residence of French Prime Minister Jacques Chaban-Delmas after talks in Paris Monday. (UPI Cablephoto).

Standing Firm in Paris

PARIS (UPI)—Allied officials said today they are prepared to stand firm on their positions at the Vietnam talks as long as necessary to win what they consider a reasonable response from the Communists.

Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's top foreign policy adviser, confirmed this Allied stand Monday night. He told newsmen the Allies had "gone as far as we can or should go."

Kissinger, who flew to Paris after accompanying Nixon on his 12-day world tour, would give no details of his talks with Henry Cabot Lodge, the chief U.S. delegate to the Vietnam negotiations.

The only thing Kissinger would say was he reviewed progress in the talks with Lodge and added, "They are proceeding as we expected. There has been no major progress."

There had been considerable speculation Kissinger had brought new instructions for the U.S. negotiating team. This was denied by Allied officials who said Kissinger's talks with Lodge concerned "mainly technical questions." They would not elaborate.

The talks have reached a new deadlock following the rejection by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations of President Nguyen Van Thieu's offer of Viet Cong participation in elections in South Vietnam.

Thieu has offered to permit Viet Cong participation in mixed commissions to organize internationally supervised elections.

The Communist response thus far has been only a flat rejection. But Allied officials have expressed the hope there will be further consideration and discussion of the proposal. Allied officials said the U.S.

Allies Kill 208 of Enemy In Series of Skirmishes

SAIGON (UPI)—Allied troops killed 208 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in scattered fighting including a helicopter attack on supply-laden Communist bicycles and motor scooters, military spokesmen said today.

Communiques said one American was killed and seven wounded in all the engagements Monday and today.

U.S. B52s dropped nearly 1,000 tons of bombs between the Laotian border and the abandoned U.S. Marine Base of Khe Sanh, hammering Communist bunkers and supply stations.

One American was killed and another wounded when Communist ground fire downed a U.S. Army "Huey" helicopter 17 miles southwest of Pleiku in the Central Highlands Monday. In a delayed report the U.S. Command said two Americans were wounded Saturday when a light observation helicopter was shot down near An Khe 274 miles northeast of Saigon.

In the Mekong Delta where South Vietnamese troops are steadily assuming most of the fighting, Saigon troops overran a Communist position near Rach Gia City 115 miles southwest of Saigon Monday and killed 40 Viet Cong in a several hours long battle.

U.S. 4th Infantry Division troops in helicopter gunships caught the bicycle-motor scooter column 275 miles northeast of Saigon and opened fire with rockets and machine guns.

The helicopter crews said they counted 24 bodies among destroyed bikes and supplies. Other helicopter gunships backed by American infantrymen killed 12 Communists in a clash 23 miles northwest of Saigon along with five others killed 270 miles northeast of Saigon.

Communist terrorists in the Central Highlands blew up an administration office in Tuy Hoa Village 92 miles northeast of Saigon, killing a policeman and wounding the village chief

No Biafra Link

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Nigeria's chief peace negotiator said today he has had no contact with the Biafrans since he left Lagos for the visit of Pope Paul VI to Uganda last week.

"Nothing terribly unexpected happened," Chief Anthony Enahoro told a news conference as he stopped briefly in Kenya on his way home from Kampala.

Biafra's diplomatic representative in East Africa, Augustine Okwu, also was in Nairobi today, but Enahoro said he had had no contact with any Biafrans in the Kenyan capital.

Pope Paul, while in Kampala, met separately with both Enahoro and Okwu, but neither he nor President Milton Obote of Uganda were able to get them to the conference table together.

Enahoro said today he hopes the next forward step will come from the Organization of African Unity and its consultative committee on Nigeria. He refused to say if any ground work had been laid for future peace talks during Pope Paul's talks with the Biafrans and Nigerians.

Unofficial sources reported Monday Nigerian troops have retaken a strategic three-mile stretch of road east of Onitsha, where a federal garrison had to be supplied from the Niger River's west bank. Recapture of the road reopens communications between Onitsha and the East Central state capital, Enugu.

Do these cars bring back memories? (You don't have to answer out loud.) They do to us . . . fond memories and proud ones. We applied the gravel roof to the then Fuller Shirt Factory on Pine Grove Avenue in Kingston, in 1947 . . . about twenty-two years ago. This was a twenty-year specification roof, and as far as we know it's still in good condition.

In 1950 we installed the brick siding on all sections of the building, which previously had had wood siding. This, we believe, is one of the outstanding siding jobs in the area, especially as far as height is concerned. It hasn't embarrassed us yet, and we think it's probably one of the better looking insulated brick siding jobs in the area.

Did you read this ad or are you still mulling over those 1947 memories? Well, when you finish, will you keep us in mind . . . roofing and siding . . . Smith Parish.
